Word from the Sheriff

2016 marked my 32nd year in law enforcement and fifth year as your Sheriff. I take pride in working with the men and women who are committed to serving the citizens of this county. As I reflect on this past year, we tackled challenges and had many accomplishments that will continue to help us keep the community safe.

In 2014 and 2015 we experienced an overall increase in violent and property crime rates across the county. During this period the department continued to adjust to Prison Realignment and the implementation of Proposition 47. Prop 47 changed a variety of prior felony crimes and re-classified them as misdemeanors; this was particularly the case with illicit drug crimes. In response to the passage of Prop 47, we re-focused our efforts toward criminal street gangs. The department restructured personnel from our Narcotics Division and assigned them to the Regional Gang Teams. These teams proactively patrolled areas which had an increase in crime. These efforts were efficient, and we saw immediate results. In 2016 the Gang Unit made 835 arrests, of which 606 were felonies, and they removed 290 illegally possessed firearms from the streets. We also added a fifth Homicide Team to investigate and solve murder cases across the county.

By working closely with our elected officials and the County Board of Supervisors, we were awarded a $585 million dollar operating budget for the 2016/17 fiscal year. This allowed the department to open the new Emergency Operations Division at the San Bernardino International Airport, enabling us to house our Aviation and Volunteer Forces Division, under one roof. Our Volunteer Forces Division coordinates over 1,800 citizen volunteers, reserve deputy sheriffs, explorers, and search and rescue members who collectively have donated over 385,000 hours of their time to the residents of this county. The Aviation Division and Volunteer Forces Division worked tirelessly during devastating fires and numerous search and rescue missions. The Aviation Unit completed 55 emergency hoist maneuvers, and Search and Rescue Volunteers were called out to 265 search missions, which helped save lives. Our dedicated volunteers saved the department over $10 million dollars last year.

The department is committed to reducing recidivism through developing training and resource programs that will give incarcerated men and women new opportunities when they get released. We partnered with the Construction Teamsters Apprenticeship Program of Southern California to bring the Pathways Inmate Apprenticeship Program to our jails. This program gives inmates the opportunity to participate in pre-apprenticeship training that will transition into full apprenticeship training when they are released from our custody. When inmates can find gainful employment and support their families, it significantly reduces their chances of returning to custody.

Part of my four-year plan was to use technology to increase communication with the community and use the power of social media to share information about law enforcement events quickly. Social media has also given you access to learn more about the department. The public has been able to assist us with locating suspects and helped us reunite lost people with their families.

Our department prides itself on practicing effective community policing and serving you by providing the highest level of law enforcement services. In 2015, we created a Recruitment Team to help us find the next generation of deputy Sheriffs. We used our community partnerships to assist us with hiring 133 deputy sheriffs this past year. We will continue these efforts to build opportunity and trust with the public we serve. I want to express my gratitude to the residents, local businesses, faith-based and community leaders for allowing us to serve you. We all need to work together to help reduce crime and improve the quality of life in our communities.

To all our volunteers and the men and women of the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department, I appreciate your dedicated service to others. I am privileged to be a part of this great organization and I want to thank you for your continued support of public safety.

Highland Station/Sheriff's Range

Cannonball Memorial Run A Huge Success All Across the Nation

Sergeant John Bannes, Highland Station, and Sergeant Jason Hendrix, Advanced Officer Training, created the Cannonball Memorial Run the last week of November, 2016. It was planned as a cross country drive starting in Santa Monica, CA, and finishing in Washington, D.C., at the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial. The run was to raise funds for the families of fallen officers in 2016 and to raise awareness of officers being murdered in 2016. Stops were planned for Palm Springs, CA; Phoenix, AZ; San Antonio, TX; Dallas, TX; Peach County, GA; and Richmond, VA; with the Virginia State Police. All of these agencies had one or more officers murdered this past year. Their past experiences and beliefs propelled them into action and was the driving force behind their efforts.

To coordinate this endeavor, they contacted all agencies nationwide that had an officer murdered, and requested patches from those agencies. The six stops were also coordinated with representatives of six of those agencies. They had limited social media experience; however, in a matter of a few days, they created a Facebook page, a Twitter account, an Instagram account, and began publishing their upcoming endeavor.

On Thursday, December 8, 2016, along with the help of Sergeant Mike Rude, Highland Station, as an extra driver, the three set out on the endeavor. After starting in Santa Monica, they made a brief stop at the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Frank Bland Regional Training Center, where they were officially sent on their journey by Undersheriff Joe Cusimano and Assistant Sheriff Shannon Dicus. From there it was off to Palm Springs, CA to honor Officers Lesley Zerebny and Jose Gilbert Vega. They met with members of the department. They shared the mission of the endeavor and exchanged patches. The three did interviews with local media and the word began to get out. The stop was brief and bittersweet, but the drive had to stay on schedule. After the three left, the gravity of this important endeavor was setting in. Although they had received many patches via the mail from other agencies that had an officer murdered, they now had an actual patch received in person from an agency that suffered two great losses in a single incident.

Their endeavor moved on to Phoenix, AZ to honor Officer David Van Glasser. It was only a few days prior that they had made arrangements to meet with Phoenix PD. Media was present to video their arrival and initial greetings with Phoenix officers. The entire shift that worked the night their officer was murdered was present along with their watch commander. What made it even more profound was the attendance of Mrs. Glasser, Officer Glasser's widow. It was the first time she had spoken publicly about her husband's murder. There were hugs, tears and even some laughter. Some great stories of Officer Glasser were shared. Mrs. Glasser presented the three sergeants with her husband's challenge coin! The watch commander presented the patches of his department, and Officer Glasser's story was told. There were more tears, more laughter, photos, and interviews, but once again, time was pressing and the three had to make it to San Antonio, TX by noon the next day.

The next stop was to honor Detective Benjamin Edward Marconi, murdered just a few weeks prior. By now many phone calls, social media posts, and text messages had gone out. The media had exchanged the info. The word got out and the first 50 miles through Texas was via police escort along a closed 10 Freeway. It was an amazing sight to see! The three could not thank El Paso PD and EL Paso Sheriffs enough for the escort. El Paso PD Sergeant Gomez did not have a patch with him, so he cut the two he was wearing off his shirt and presented them to the trio to take to Washington.

The Chief of Leon Valley PD, San Antonio, TX, Joe Salvaggio, stepped up and hosted the stop at his station on a moment's notice. He invited officers from many of the surrounding agencies, including San Antonio PD. The reception was the largest so far. The entire city council chamber was packed with officers and media. The support was overwhelming and the podium was covered in patches and coins, again to be delivered to the National Memorial. They wished they had more time to get to know these mighty fine officers who had lost so much. The endeavor had to move on, but not before Chief Salvaggio dished out the best brisket sandwiches in San Antonio! It was now off to Dallas, about 300 miles north. They were provided another police escort for the first 20 miles as a token of gratitude for stopping.

The conversation in the car at this point was periodically solemn. The endeavor was on to Dallas TX to honor five officers of this beloved profession who were murdered in a single day. Everyone remembers that day: July 7, 2016. Dallas PD lost four: Officers Michael Leslie Krol, Patricio E. Zamarripa, Corporal Lorne Bradley Ahrens, and Sergeant Michael Joseph Smith. The fifth, Brent Alan Thompson, was from Dallas Rapid Transit PD.

The sergeants traveled north to Dallas PD Headquarters. Their arrival was surreal! To see smiles on the officer's faces in light of so much loss was proof that this profession relies on its tight bonds to press on and move forward. The assistant chief arranged for the team of officers responsible for the officer extractions to be present; a very humbling honor and experience. Handshakes, patches, cards, coins and laughs were exchanged. Dallas lived up to the Texas motto and really did it BIG! They handled the media and were able to get the story out that evening; they hosted a dinner and provided a tour of downtown where the tragedy occurred, as well as Dealey Plaza. Just as Bannes, Hendrix, and Rude were getting to know everyone, it was time again to move on to their next stop, Peach County, Georgia.

It was 10:00 PM and they had 850 miles of driving ahead to reach Peach County by noon on Saturday. The planned stop was to honor Deputy Sheriff Daryl Smallwood and Sergeant Patrick Michael Sondron, both murdered in a single incident in November. Peach County is a rural agency to say the least. The jail is small and on the outskirts of a small town. The pictures drawn and painted in support by the local schoolchildren were still on the lobby walls. More patches were exchanged. But this time, the sergeants were out of SBSB patches. Sergeant Rude stepped up and sacrificed his uniform shirt. His patches were cut off the sleeves to leave with Peach County deputies. It was tough for the three to leave this agency, knowing the resources of a large agency are not there to support the loss of one, let alone two officers. The Cannonball Memorial Run was out to solve that problem.

On to the last stop, Richmond, VA, to honor Virginia State Trooper Chad Phillip Dermeyer. By this point, they had mastered social media. The word had spread across the entire United States! Phone calls began to pour in from random officers asking for the Cannonball Team to stop and meet them at various off-ramps to provide their patch as a show of support for the Cannonball Memorial Run. Many of these patches were literally ripped off a uniform shirt on the spot. These momentary meets were priceless and will never be forgotten!

Richmond was bittersweet. It was the last meet with fellow officers. Lifelong bonds were made and professional relationships cemented for future Cannonball Memorial Runs. Another amazing police escort northbound on historical I-95 for many miles! It was broadcast live on Facebook! It was at this time that they attracted the attention of former Cannonball World Record Holder, Alex Roy. Mr. Roy, now a "Safe Driving" advocate, later asked to partner with the Cannonball Memorial Run Team and help promote the endeavor to reach it's goal of $1million.

Lastly, the final stop, The National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial. It was the end to 3,148 miles of driving. Their "Non-Stop" journey had taken 57 hours. The Cannonball Memorial Run was now complete. The final destination was broadcast live via Facebook. The endeavor had taken on a life of its own, and from a simple creative idea only 12 days prior, it grew to something larger than life! The three arrived at the memorial at 10:27pm, Saturday, December 10, 2016. It was very cold outside at the memorial. There were a few choice words for how cold it was; those listening to the live broadcast heard those words! The names of San Bernardino Sheriff's Finest were found on the east and west walls and etched. It was late and time to get some much needed rest. Members of the team had been awake for nearly 72 hours!

Since the 2016 Run, the endeavor has continued to grow every day. More and more support is pouring in daily. The awareness is growing. Bannes and Hendrix have created a website, www.cannonballmemorialrun.org. They have incorporated the Cannonball Memorial Run into a 501(c)3 public benefit organization. Their mission is simple: build the first and only premier National Immediate Relief Fund for police survivors and keep raising the awareness on officers being murdered in this Nation.

This endeavor could not have happened without tremendous help from Sergeant Mike Rude as a driver, SEBA, the support from the Sergeants' Command and Executive Staff, and Sheriff John McMahon. The Cannonball Memorial Run is greatly appreciative of the support. Most important were all of the donors, who contributed about $10,000.

As of this writing, four more officers of this beloved profession have been murdered. Numerous others have been shot and wounded in senseless ambush style attacks. The 2017 Cannonball Memorial Run has been scheduled for October, with the exact dates to be announced at a later time. Please help the Cannonball Memorial Run spread the word. Help make it the most talked about topic among others of this beloved profession.

Specialized Investigations Division - Crimes Against Children Detail

"Who Am I Lisa" Cold Case Solved After 30 Years

On September 28, 2016, Reserve Deputy Pete Headley received the Commander's Award from Captain Leland Boldt and Sheriff John McMahon for his work on a cold case that had been assigned to the Crimes Against Children Detail since 1986. After the award was presented and the case summary was read to the executive staff, Pete received a standing ovation for his hard work, tenacity, and diligence.

This case was referred to as the "Who am I Lisa" investigation, which remained unsolved for over 30 years. This case became the responsibility of a number of detectives in the detail throughout the years, finally landing in the hands of Reserve Deputy Pete Headley. The following is a brief summary of this very complicated and dramatic case and how it involves San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department.

The San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department became involved in this case in August of 1986 when an older couple from Chino, the Deckers, walked into the West End Station with a little girl, about the age of five, who they knew only as Lisa. That day marked the beginning of an investigation that led to the involvement of several counties and states, and uncovered a kidnapping, child exploitation, a murder, and the possibility of other kidnap/murders currently under investigation. The goal of each CAC investigator on this case was to determine the actual identity of Lisa and reconnect her with her family.

The Deckers met Lisa and her father, known under the alias Gordon Jensen, in 1986 at the Holiday Host RV Park in Scotts Valley, California. Jensen lived at the park in a truck camper and served as the maintenance man. The Deckers befriended Jensen and after a couple weeks they shared with him information about their daughter who was unable to have children and was considering adoption. Jensen talked to the Deckers about the death of his wife and the difficulties he was having raising a little girl on his own. He offered to allow the Deckers a "trial adoption." They agreed and returned to Chino with Lisa and after a few weeks they decided to adopt her. Shortly thereafter, the Deckers returned to the RV park to meet with Jensen about finalizing the adoption, only to find he had quit his job and left the park. During that time, the Deckers also realized that Lisa was severely molested and tortured by Jensen. The child molestation/abandonment investigation was turned over to the Santa Cruz Sheriff's Department and Lisa was placed in foster care, and eventually adopted by another family. SBCSD continued to assist Santa Cruz County throughout the investigation into the molestation case.

The subsequent investigation into Jensen revealed that he was actually arrested by Cypress Police

Department, with Lisa in the car, during a DUI/Traffic Collision under the name Curtis Kimball a few years prior. A warrant was issued for his arrest in the molestation/abandonment case under that name. He was eventually arrested in 1989 and convicted of abandoning Lisa. He served a short two years in prison as Curtis Kimball. Upon his release in 1990, Kimball immediately absconded from parole and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

Kimball didn't surface again until 2002, in Contra Costa County. He assumed the name Doctor Lawrence Vanner and obtained work as a handyman for a South Korean woman named Eunsoon Jun. He befriended Jun and quickly moved in with her. They were married a short time later (although the ceremony was not legal). Jun disappeared a short time after marrying Vanner and a family friend reported her missing. Deputies from Contra Costa County Sheriff's Department visited Jun's home several times, looking for her, and they received various statements from Vanner regarding Jun's whereabouts. A tenacious deputy fingerprinted Vanner and discovered an outstanding warrant for his arrest under the name Curtis Kimball. Kimball still had the outstanding warrant for the original parole violation stemming from his case for the abandonment of Lisa. Kimball was arrested on the parole violation.

During a subsequent search of Jun's house, Contra Costa investigators discovered Jun's body in the house. They determined Kimball (Vanner) killed, dismembered, and buried her under her house in a pile of kitty litter. Then he took over Jun's house and bank accounts. Contra Costa County arrested him for Jun's murder and he was sentenced to prison, where he later died.

After his arrest in 2002, a DNA comparison was done between Lisa and Kimball, which showed he was not biologically related to her. This was the first time authorities realized that Kimball was not Lisa's father. Lisa's true identity was not known. At that time, investigators and Lisa had no idea how Kimball obtained Lisa and what happened to her family. When Lisa was recovered, she told interviewers that she recalled having other children with her in the care of Kimball. Kimball told Lisa her mother was deceased and the other children were her siblings who died after eating poisonous mushrooms while they lived in another campsite. Other people who knew them recalled Kimball had another young girl with him in addition to Lisa. Initially no one fully realized the extent of the crimes the man committed during his lifetime. He told different fabrications of his life to the people that he was around at the time, to explain the children he had with him. As this case continued to evolve, the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department and Deputy Pete Headley continued to pursue it.

At this point, investigators determined Lisa was most likely kidnapped from a woman Kimball befriended, he likely killed her as he did Eunsoon Jun, and that the other children Lisa recalled were additional kidnap/molest victims whom he murdered. Lisa was possibly the only known survivor of Kimball's.

During the many years the case was open, a number of detectives had a hand in the investigation. CAC Detectives Julie Brumm and Robin Real interviewed Kimball in prison. He refused to provide Lisa's true identity at that time or provide any credible information about how he obtained her. He died in prison without providing any credible information about her abduction or identity. In fact, he used so many aliases, his true identity was never determined. The only information he provided was that he met a woman named Denise who was a nurse in Canada.

Kimball was entered into ViCAP, the Violent Criminal Apprehension Program maintained by the FBI for the circumstances surrounding the murder of Eunsoon Jun. The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC) also assisted with Lisa's case. Detectives compared her to numerous missing children who matched her profile, all with negative results.

In February 2013, Pete began working on this case and met with a Senior Forensic Case Specialist with NCMEC. One of the possible matches for Lisa was a child who was kidnapped named Amber Crum. Crum's family was located and a new DNA sample was obtained from Lisa for comparison, with negative results. Pete contacted the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and other agencies in Quebec, Canada, looking for missing children. There was a kidnapped child named Lorraine Gault who was also a possible match for Lisa from the Quebec area. Authorities located Gault's father and half-sister and provided DNA samples from both, and it was compared to Lisa with negative results. In October, 2015, Pete verified that a DNA comparison between another missing child, Brandi Lee Krajewski, was not a match to Lisa.

Pete diligently worked this case weekly on his own time and dollar. Because the suspect said in one of his interviews that Lisa's mother was a nurse in Canada named Donna or Denise, Pete checked with numerous boards for the licensure of nurses with that name, with negative results. He inquired with the prison where Kimball was incarcerated and learned he had no contacts by phone or otherwise, and no visitors. Kimball's fingerprints were reviewed again to check for any other CII or FBI numbers attached to them, with negative results. Pete verified that Kimball's and Lisa's DNA were uploaded into CODIS for 50 state searches.

In October 2013, Pete determined one of the phone calls that Kimball made from the RV Park in Scotts Valley, California belonged to Austin Capital KOA Campground in the early 1980s. He contacted the owner and learned he kept all the records of everyone who stayed there; however, he sold them to KOA. When Pete contacted the KOA headquarters, he discovered all the records were destroyed.

Pete tracked down employment applications and followed every lead for schools, references, other jobs, etc., listed on those applications. He found the actual people of many of the aliases used by Kimball to gather information. He found the suspect tracks led him to numerous states and even Canada. Each of these leads just added to the mystery surrounding Kimball and Lisa.

In 2014, Pete spoke to Lisa and signed her up with several ancestry and genealogy sites, hoping to identify her through other family members. In July 2015, Pete contacted Barbara Rae-Venter, a genetic genealogist who assists adoptees with finding their biological families. Barbara Rae-Venter contacted President and Vice-President of Family Tree DNA. They agreed to set up a Family Finder project for Lisa and covered half of the cost of all testing. The other half came from donations. They used social media to reach out to people to voluntarily provide DNA samples.

Barbara Rae-Venter then began a process of triangulation, which involves comparing the DNA of people who have matches on the same segments of the same chromosomes. From this she is able to determine an ancestor in common for all of those people. Initially, the ancestor in common for Lisa was back five generations. Since that couple had ten children and each of those ten children had ten children, the possibilities were huge. Barbara assembled family trees down to living descendants. From there, Pete used law enforcement resources to find the living descendants and made contact with them via telephone. He told each of those descendants about the case and their relationship to Lisa. Many of those people Pete contacted believed it was a scam and were initially very reluctant to participate. Eventually, he gained the cooperation of many people and obtained more and more DNA tests from living descendants. Many of the people Pete initially contacted were in Canada and only spoke French.

Finally, in July of this year, Pete and Barbara located Lisa's first cousin once removed, Robert (names withheld for confidentiality). Through Robert, Pete located Lisa's grandfather, Armand. Armand is an elderly man, but he was able to fill in some of the missing pieces in regards to Lisa's disappearance.

After all these years of not knowing who she is, Lisa finally learned her true name is Dawn and her family lives in New Hampshire. She and her mother, Denise, disappeared in 1981 from Manchester, New Hampshire, when Dawn was only six months old. They were never heard from again. Her family didn't report them missing because they assumed Denise and her boyfriend at the time fled to Texas in the middle of the night to avoid debt. This explained why Pete and the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children were never able to match Lisa with known missing children. Investigators now believe Denise's boyfriend back then was actually Curtis Kimball, using a different alias.

Since the discovery of Lisa's identity in July, Pete is working with police in Manchester to have them search for the body of Denise at her last known residence. He is also working with the New Hampshire State Police on a similar homicide cold case. This case involves the murder of a woman, her two children, and an unrelated female child in New Hampshire at the same time as Denise and Dawn's disappearance. These victims were dismembered in a manner similar to Eunsoon Jun. Pete and the New Hampshire investigators are working on leads to determine if Kimball was responsible for these murders as well.

As a result of this investigation, Pete realized the incredible opportunity this knowledge affords investigators attempting to identify unknown victims. Pete connected the New Hampshire State Cold Case Unit to his genealogist and lab so they might identify their victims by the same methods used to identify Lisa. He also shared this information with our Coroner's office and Homicide Cold Case team so our department will benefit from the exciting new possibilities for identification that this case has set precedents for.

For years, Pete worked tirelessly to help Lisa and make good a promise made to her over four years ago. In the end he brought closure to Lisa, her family, and quite possibly solved other cold cases and paved the way for a new era in identifying unknown victims. He is currently working on a reunion with Lisa and the family she was taken from so many years ago. ■

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT 2016 ANNUAL REPORT

Rancho Cucamonga Station

Highway Dedication Ceremony Held

San Bernardino County Sheriff John McMahon, accompanied by 40th District Assemblyman Mark Steinorth and dignitaries from the City of Rancho Cucamonga and the County of San Bernardino, held a Highway Dedication Ceremony at the Rancho Cucamonga Police Department in honor of Deputy Ron Ives and Deputy Danny Lobo.

Assemblyman Marc Steinorth introduced Assembly Concurrent Resolution (ACR) No.

123, requesting a portion of Interstate 15 from its junction with Interstate 210 to Sierra Avenue in San Bernardino County be named "Sheriff's Deputies Ronald Wayne Ives and Daniel Jess Lobo, Jr., Memorial Highway."

On September 1, 2004, Ron was passing through the intersection of Baseline Road and Archibald Avenue in the City of Rancho Cucamonga when the driver of an SUV ran through the red light and struck Ron's police motorcycle.

Ron was transported to a local trauma center where he succumbed to his injuries approximately one hour after the collision. The driver of the opposing vehicle also died from injuries sustained in the collision.

Deputy Ives served with the Sheriff's Department for eight years. He will forever be remembered for his commitment to our country and his dedication to the citizens of the County of San Bernardino. In 2002, Ron rode his bicycle cross-country from Long Beach to Ground Zero in New York City. Ron also coordinated the Rancho Cucamonga Station's Annual Bicycle Rodeo. The Bicycle Rodeo has since been dedicated to his memory and is known as the "Ron Ives Bicycle Rodeo," which continues today. Ron is survived by his wife Karen and son Blake.

On October 11, 2005, Deputy Danny Lobo, along with a second motor deputy and a deputy in a patrol car, were traveling east on Arrow Highway in Rancho Cucamonga. Danny was responding to a vehicle collision at Etiwanda Avenue with his lights and siren activated. A driver exited a driveway to proceed west on Arrow Highway. The first motor was able to pass, the patrol car swerved out of the way, but Danny could not avoid the vehicle exiting the driveway, and was thrown from his motor after striking the vehicle. He was flown to Arrowhead Regional Medical Center in Colton, where he succumbed to his injuries at 4:12 p.m.

Deputy Lobo served with the Sheriff's Department for eleven years. He is remembered by fellow department members as a happy guy, always smiling; a man with a positive outlook on life, a love for family, and devoted to his work.

Danny is survived by his wife, Jennifer, three daughters, Kiley, Kadie and Maddison, and his parents, Daniel Lobo Sr. and Gloria.

"This highway dedication is a tribute to Ron and Danny and every law enforcement officer with us today. They and their families should never doubt our appreciation and admiration for the service and sacrifice given by members of the law enforcement family. The signs will remind motorists of the sacrifice Ron and Danny made years ago," stated Sheriff John McMahon.

"Deputy Ives and Deputy Lobo truly embody the meaning of the word hero, and this freeway dedication will ensure that their sacrifices are never forgotten. Every time I meet with their family and friends I hear about how much they cared for our community and its safety, and I am so grateful that I am able to recognize their service," stated Assemblyman Marc Steinorth. ■

New Criminal Laboratory Opened

Since the inception of our criminal laboratory in 1957, the challenges have remained the same: keeping current with new technologies and crime trends throughout the nation.

April 2016 marked a huge milestone and step forward with the opening of our new state of the art criminal laboratory.

The laboratory is home to criminalists and crime scene investigators who conduct daily analysis of evidence, controlled substances, alcohol and firearms. The new laboratory was recently accredited by the American Society of Crime Laboratory Directors.

For those who haven't had the opportunity to visit, the new building is connected to our existing evidence warehouse that holds over 300,000 pieces of evidence. With all the construction came many challenges that were ultimately overcome by a dedicated staff of professionals.

Plans are currently underway to renovate the old laboratory building, which will house our DNA analysis division and administrative staff. ■

Crime Fighting Goes Online

Brittany Rios handles the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department's social media interaction.

The following is an excerpt from an article in the Desert Dispatch by Paola Baker, Staff Writer

Local law enforcement and public safety agencies are increasingly turning to social media platforms to improve communication and community engagement, experts say. Some are even employing media or social media specialists.

The San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department is among them. The department employs a media specialist to handle its social media accounts. That specialist, Brittany Rios, 25, has been with the department since May 2014, and her primary focus is to update the department's social media accounts, Sheriff's spokeswoman Jodi Miller told the Daily Press.

"Before the summer of 2014 the department did not use social media," Miller said. "Brittany has been instrumental in changing that."

Rios began her career with the Sheriff's Department as an intern in June 2012. She interned for the department's Juvenile Intervention Program for about six months, Rios said, and then stayed on as a volunteer because she loved the program.

"As an intern, I saw all the work Jodi and Cindy (Bachman) do to update the public and provide information," Rios told the Daily Press. "I understood social media and the various platforms that could be used to make providing information much easier.

Since its inception in 2014, the Sheriff's Department social media program has greatly expanded. Sheriff's Headquarters regularly uses Twitter and Facebook to provide real-time updates to the public, which is a huge benefit to the department," Rios said.

"Social media is a direct channel of communication to the public. If there is something pressing the public wants or needs to know, that is the perfect channel for it," Rios said. "Information is shared so easily on social media and this community is so great at doing it. It just creates a forum for mass communication."

While Rios' primary objective is maintaining the social media accounts for Sheriff's Headquarters, she did assist in setting up accounts for local stations throughout the county. The theory behind each station having its own account is the same as for Sheriff's Headquarters — creating a direct channel for the stations to communicate to the public, Rios said.

"Each station needed its own channel to communicate to their public," Rios said. "What's important for someone in Highland may not be as important to a resident in Rancho Cucamonga."

Rios helps to monitor local stations' social media accounts, but each station has its own personnel to handle the accounts, she said.

"The commanders from each station have their own Twitter accounts set up, as well as several Public Affairs deputies," Rios said, "and our commanders and deputies are doing an excellent job in putting information out and getting that community engagement."

She cited San Bernardino Police Chief Jarrod Burguan as a great example of a law enforcement official utilizing social media to provide real-time news to the public. Burguan did so during the San Bernardino shooting Dec. 2.

"Thanks to Brittany's training, Cindy and I are able to put stuff out on social media," Miller said. "It is Brittany's training that allowed all of us (at the Sheriff's Department) to develop a comfort with social media. She has been critical in helping us share and utilize social media to provide information to the public."

Rios seemed humbled by the praise for her efforts and emphasized that it was a "team effort" from all Sheriff's staff as well as the public, who she said is "pivotal" in sharing information.

"News reaches that much more people when the public shares information," Rios said. "When we ask the public to help us, they are always willing. People generally want to help, and social media is a great way of helping us out."

Rios did acknowledge that social media can have its downsides, such as false information being spread online. She cited a recent hoax spread multiple times after the San Bernardino shooting, which claimed that a third suspect in the deadly shootings was still at large.

"There will always be false information spread online," Rios said. "But the same platform being used to spread the false information is the same platform we can use to correct it." ■
