NARRATIVE

On Monday, September 12, 2022, at approximately 1846 hours, San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department (SBCSD) Deputy Nathan Bakker performed a traffic stop on a white Toyota Camry with California license plate [redacted] at Encelia Avenue and Twentynine Palms Highway, in Twentynine Palms. The vehicle was driven by Joe Alverson, the registered owner of the vehicle. Alverson ran from Bakker at the Burger King, at 71707 Twentynine Palms Highway. During the attempted detention of Alverson, Bakker fired two gunshots at Alverson. Alverson was armed with an AR style rifle and was not struck by gunfire. SBCSD Specialized Investigations Division, Homicide Detail investigators assumed the investigation.

According to Burger King video surveillance recordings, Alverson armed himself with an AR style rifle as he ran around the northeast corner of the Burger King. Alverson turned and pointed the AR style rifle toward Bakker as he pursued him. Bakker fired two gunshots at Alverson. Alverson fell to the ground. Alverson was detained without incident. According to Bakker's audio recording of the incident, Bakker ordered Alverson to stop and show his hands prior to the gunfire.

The AR style rifle was examined during the scene processing and found to have 15 live 223 caliber rounds in the magazine. The chamber of the firearm was empty. The firearm did not have serial number affixed to the weapon, had a removable magazine capable of holding more than 10 rounds of ammunition, and had a barrel less than 16 inches. Alverson was a wanted fugitive for a felony P.C. 245 Ramey arrest warrant. Alverson had prior felony convictions which prohibit him from possessing a firearm. Alverson's identity was confirmed by fingerprints at the jail.

SUMMARY:

On Monday, September 12, 2022, at approximately 1846 hours, Deputy Nathan Bakker conducted at traffic stop on a white Toyota Camry bearing California License plate [redacted], in the area of Encelia Avenue and Twentynine Palms Highway. The driver of the Toyota Camry, later identified by investigators as Joe Alverson, failed to yield and drove into the parking lot of a Burger King at 71707 29 Palms Highway. Alverson drove through the drive thru of the Burger King and stopped at near the drive thru window. Bakker drove his marked patrol vehicle to the exit of the drive thru and blocked the driveway.

Bakker exited his patrol vehicle and approached Alverson. Alverson exited the driver side of the Toyota Camry holding an object in his hands and ran north. Bakker pursued Alverson around the northwest corner of the Burger King. Alverson proceeded east along the north exterior wall of the Burger King. Video surveillance from the Burger King showed Alverson unwrapping the object he carried and revealed a black rifle. Alverson ran around the northeast corner of the Burger King and turned and faced Bakker. Alverson presented the rifle and pointed it in Bakker's direction. Bakker fired two bullets from his department issued firearm. After the two fired bullets, Alverson dropped the rifle and laid on the ground. The incident location was further described as a single-story business on the northwest corner of Twentynine Palms Highway and Encelia Avenue. The Burger King had an entrance on the east side of the business with a north facing door and an entrance on the west side of the business with a west facing door. Along the north and west side of the business was a drive thru driveway. Multiple businesses were south of the Burger King separated by a large parking lot.

At the time of the processing, a white Toyota Camry bearing California License plate [redacted] was located on the west side of the Burger King in the drive thru. On the east side of the Burger King near the northeast corner was a blue Levi Strauss jacket laying on the ground.

Approximately four feet south of the blue jacket was a black AR style rifle. The AR style rifle was examined during the scene processing and found to have 15 live 223 caliber rounds in the magazine. The chamber of the firearm was empty. The firearm did not have serial number affixed to the weapon, had a removable magazine capable of holding more than 10 rounds of ammunition, and had a barrel less than 16 inches

VIDEO REVIEW CONTINUED:

At approximately 1845 hours, the Camry traveled east on 29 Palms Highway and re-entered the Stater Brothers Shopping Center. Bakker followed behind the Camry in his Sheriff's vehicle with the overhead emergency lights activated. The Camry proceeded toward Burger King and re-entered the drive-thru. Bakker did not enter the drive-thru and drove toward the exit of the drive-thru on the west side of Burger King.

Bakker parked his marked Sheriff's vehicle with the overhead lights still activated and blocked the Burger King exit. A dark colored vehicle was seen parked at the window of the drive-thru. The Camry was seen parked behind the dark colored vehicle.

At approximately 1846 hours, Bakker walked north through the drive-thru passed the passenger side of the dark colored vehicle.

Seconds later, Alverson ran east on the north exterior sidewalk of Burger King. Alverson wore dark clothing and a black baseball style cap. Alverson carried an assault rifle style weapon with both hands and a white and black jacket as he looked back as Bakker pursued him on foot. Bakker carried his black department issued handgun as he pursued Alverson.

Alverson ran and turned right toward the Burger King exterior patio area. Alverson ran south between patio tables and held the rifle barrel faced up, with both hands. Alverson motioned his body toward a northern direction and lowered the rifle and pointed it toward the direction where Bakker was as he pursued Alverson. Bakker pointed his handgun toward Alverson. Alverson fell to the ground and simultaneously dropped the rifle. Alverson landed in a prone position with his hands by his head and his feet spread apart.

Bakker continued to point his handgun at Alverson as he kicked the rifle away from Alverson. Bakker kept his handgun pointed at Alverson for approximately one minute until a white female deputy arrived on scene and hand cuffed Alverson to the rear without further incident

WITNESS INTERVIEW: [redacted]

On Monday, September 12, 2022, at approximately 2142 hours, Deputy Dylan Gosswiller and I Interviewed [redacted] in the parking lot south of Burger King at 71707 29 Palms Highway, 29 Palms. I recorded the interview with my department-issued digital audio recorder. The recording was later submitted as evidence. The following is a summary of my recorded contact with [redacted]

[redacted] was in the 29 Palms area for work. On Monday, September 12, 2022, at approximately 1900 hours, [redacted] went to the Burger King to get some food. When [redacted] got to the drive-through a deputy, later identified as Nathan Bakker, was parked in his patrol vehicle near the entrance to the drive-through. [redacted] rolled down his front passenger window to inquire with Bakker if it was ok for [redacted] to be at the Burger King. Bakker waved his hand forward in a motion that [redacted] understood to be Bakker waving him past him. Bakker did not have any lights or sirens activated at that time.

[redacted] continued into the drive-through and ordered food. There were no other vehicles inside the drive-through at that time. [redacted] continued to the drive-through window to pick up his food. Less than five minutes after [redacted] ordered his food, a white sedan, which [redacted] did not know the make or model of, drove up behind [redacted]. The white sedan was parked so close to [redacted] that [redacted] believed the white sedan may have hit [redacted] vehicle. [redacted] later checked and determined the white sedan did not hit his vehicle. The only portion of the white sedan [redacted] could see was the windshield portion [redacted] was unable to see inside the white sedan and did not see who drove the vehicle.

[redacted] saw Bakker pull into the drive-through in the wrong direction blocking the exit of the drive-through. Bakker's patrol vehicle's emergency lights were activated [redacted] described the emergency lights as "red and blue." [redacted] knew Bakker's patrol vehicle to belong to law enforcement because of the red and blue lights and Bakker got out of the vehicle wearing clothing which clearly identified himself as law enforcement officer.

Bakker approached [redacted]'s car and was approximately one and a half car lengths or less away from [redacted]. [redacted]'s driver's side front window was rolled down and he heard Bakker give commands to "slow down," "stop," and "put your hands up." [redacted] did not see anything in Bakker's hands.

[redacted] saw a Black male adult, approximately mid[redacted], average build, unknown height, later identified as Joe Alverson get out of the driver's door of the white sedan.

[redacted] heard what sounded like metal hitting the ground behind his vehicle. [redacted] looked in his rear-view mirror and saw an item which he described as a tarp like object on the ground on the passenger side of Alverson's door. [redacted] described the tarp object as bulky with lumps in it, and approximately three feet long, one and a half feet wide, and six to eight inches thick. [redacted] speculated as soon as Alverson saw Bakker's patrol vehicle he ran to the blue tarp. Less than 30 seconds after Bakker arrived on scene, Alverson ran to the north of the Burger King out of [redacted] view. Bakker ran after Alverson, and immediately after Alverson and Bakker went out o[redacted] view, [redacted] heard to loud bangs, which he described as gunshots from an unknown caliber firearm. As Bakker ran after Alverson he reached toward his waistband with his right hand. [redacted] did not see anything in Bakker's hands.

[redacted] waited in his vehicle and ate his food from Burger King after he heard the gunshots. Approximately 15 minutes after [redacted] heard the gunshots, a deputy came to the area and moved Bakker's vehicle. [redacted] drove out of the Burger King drive-through and parked to the south.

[redacted] had no additional information, and I concluded the interview.

SUSPECT INTERVIEW: ALVERSON, JOE

On Tuesday, September 13, 2022, at approximately 0119 hours, Detective Ian Gosswiller and I interviewed Joe Alverson at the Morongo Basin Sheriff's Station at 6602 White Feather Road, Joshua. The interview was recorded with my department-issued audio recorder. I read Alverson his Miranda Right from my department-issued Miranda card. To waiver question one, Alverson said he understood his rights. To waiver question two, Alverson requested an attorney. The interview was concluded.

Investigators collected a gunshot residue sample from both of Alverson's hands, a DNA sample, and his clothing as evidence. Alverson was not injured during the incident.

ARREST:

On Monday, September 12, 2022, at 1953 hours, Alverson was arrested for PC 245(D)(3) and booked in at the Morongo Basin jail.

Hello. I don't know who, what detective, or department to send this to. I thought I sent it on here last night shortly after the shooting but my message didn't go thru.

I was driving by the burger King in 29 palms yesterday when the shooting occurred with the Police/ Sheriff Officer. I caught this on video and want to share it with you in case you need it.

I was at the traffic light of Encelia and hwy 62 and saw the officers suv lights at the exit of the burger King drive thru. The guy was yelling and walking around the car in the drive thru and his arms were waving around and that's when i saw him have a big gun/rifle. I grabbed my phone to start recording. The Officer was yelling at him and the guy waved his hands again and started running. The officer chased after him and the video is what I captured.

NARRATIVE

ASSIGNMENT/ ARRIVAL:

On Wednesday, September 14, 2022, I was assigned as a Sheriff's Service Specialist for the town of Yucca Valley.

On Wednesday, September 14, 2022, at approximately 1327 hours, I assisted patrol personal during a Search Warrant service located at [redacted] Twentynine Palms Californian. I arrived on scene at 1338 hours.

The above location is a residence.

EVIDENCE:

Photographs:

Using my department issued camera, I took digital images on scene prior/post search warrant service. I later downloaded and submitted those images into DEMS.

DISPOSITION:

Forward to Detective Able's original report.

NARRATIVE

ASSIGNMENT/ARRIVAL:

On Monday, September 12, 2022, I was assigned to uniformed patrol in the City of Twentynine Palms. At approximately 1840 hours, I was enroute to 71707 Twentynine Palms Highway to assist my partner, Deputy Bakker. I received a phone call from Bakker informing me he saw the vehicle bearing California license plate [redacted] This vehicle was known based on prior calls to belong to Joe Alverson. I began to head toward the incident location to assist Bakker knowing Alverson's prior charges. Bakker conducted a traffic stop on the vehicle before I arrived at the location. Bakker was not sure of the license plate number and I broadcasted via radio with the license plate to log it into Bakker's call. I arrived on scene at 1847 hours.

DEPUTY OBSERVATIONS:

When I arrived on scene I observed a Alverson in a prone position on the ground with his arms out to the side on the northeast corner of Burger King. Bakker held Alverson at gunpoint and as I walked up to assist Bakker I observed a rifle containing a magazine on the ground.

DEPUTY ACTIONS:

When I arrived on scene I told Bakker to hold Alverson at gunpoint while I placed him into handcuffs. I told Alverson to keep his hands at his side. I handcuffed Alverson to the rear, adjusted the handcuffs to proper fit and double locked the handcuffs. Bakker and I rolled Alverson on his side and began to assess him for injuries. I did not locate any injuries. We placed Alverson into the backseat of my patrol car and secured his seatbelt. I began to assist in securing the crime scene.

MEDICAL:

I stood by when Medic Engine #44 arrived on the scene. Alverson denied medical attention.

WITNESS CONTACT:

I contacted the following witnesses at the scene to obtain their contact information. I did not conduct interviews at this time.

[redacted]

[redacted]

TRANSPORT:

I transported Alverson from the scene to the Morongo Basin station and placed Alverson in an interview room.

EVIDENCE:

I uploaded my audio recording and video footage obtained from witness [redacted] into the Command Central Vault.

DISPOSITION:

Attach to original report.

NARRATIVE

ASSIGNMENT/ARRIVAL:

On Monday, 09/12/2022, I was assigned to uniform patrol in the unincorporated areas of the Morongo Basin. I wore my class A uniform and drove a marked Sheriff's patrol vehicle. At approximately 1846 hours, I assisted other deputies on a traffic near the intersection of Twentynine Palms Highway and Encelia Avenue. I arrived on scene at approximately 1850 hours.

PHONE CONVERSATION:

Prior to Deputy Bakker conducting his traffic stop, he called and advised me he saw a vehicle in the Burger King drive through. Bakker told me a suspect wanted for assault with a firearm, was known to be driving that vehicle, based on the previous calls for service involving the suspect. I advised Bakker I was familiar with the suspect and he was suspected to have a firearm from the previous crime that occurred. Bakker and I agreed it would be safer for the suspect and deputies if a traffic stop was conducted on the vehicle prior to the suspect arriving to his residence, to avoid a possible barricade situation. I advised Bakker I was on my way from the Morongo Basin Station to assist him.

SAFETY SWEEP:

As I arrived on scene I was advised Bakker shot in firearm in a south direction. I noticed a Stater Brothers and a Total Fitness were in a south direction from the scene. I contacted the managers at both businesses and confirmed no one was struck by gun fire.

VIDEO FOOTAGE:

[redacted] emailed me video surveillance, which I provided to Detective Gosswiller.

WITNESS INTERVIEW: [redacted]

On Wednesday, September 21, 2022, at approximately 1036 hours, I interviewed [redacted] via telephone. The interview was recorded with my department-issued audio recorder. The following is a summary of the interview.

On Monday, September 12, 2022, [redacted] drove to [redacted] located at [redacted], Twentynine Palms, with [redacted] and [redacted] and [redacted]

At approximately 1840 hours, [redacted] drove west on [redacted] and entered the [redacted] shopping center parking lot from the northeast apron, from [redacted]. As [redacted] drove through the parking lot toward [redacted] (south), he saw a marked San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department (SBCSD) patrol vehicle at the Burger King. The Burger King restaurant was in the same shopping center, located at 71707 Twentynine Palms Highway. The patrol vehicle's overhead emergency red and blue lights were activated. [redacted] recognized the vehicle as an SBCSD patrol vehicle due to the overhead lights and the word "Sheriff" affixed to the vehicle's sides. The deputy drove the patrol vehicle into the drive-thru entrance [redacted] parked his vehicle in a parking aisle north of the [redacted] entrance.

Within 30 seconds, the deputy drove backward and exited the Burger King drive-thru's entrance. The deputy drove south to the Burger King drive-thru exit and parked. [redacted] believed the deputy used his patrol vehicle to block the drive-thru exit, not to allow cars to exit.

Within 10 seconds of parking the patrol vehicle [redacted] saw the driver's door of the patrol vehicle open. The deputy, later identified as Deputy Nathan Bakker, exited the patrol vehicle. Bakker unholstered his handgun and pointed it toward the drive-thru exit. Bakker walked around the front of his patrol vehicle toward the drive-thru exit. [redacted] recognized Bakker as a deputy sheriff because of the uniform he wore. Bakker walked into the Burger King drive-thru, out of [redacted] sight. [redacted] was concerned that Bakker had his firearm pointed toward the drive-thru exit, so he ushered [redacted], [redacted], and [redacted] toward the entrance of [redacted]

Approximately 10 seconds later, [redacted] looked backward toward the Burger King as he walked to [redacted]. [redacted] saw two people running south from the north side of Burger King, toward the Burger King entrance doors, on the east side of the business. [redacted] did not have any visual obstructions and could see over the vehicles parked in the parking lot.

WITNESS INTERVIEW: [redacted]

On Monday, September 12, 2022, at approximately 2142 hours, Deputy Dylan Gosswiller and I Interviewed [redacted] in the parking lot south of Burger King at 71707 Twentynine Palms Highway, Twentynine Palms. I recorded the interview with my department-issued digital audio recorder. The recording was later submitted as evidence. The following is a summary of my recorded interview with [redacted]

[redacted] was in the Twentynine Palms area for work. On Monday, September 12, 2022, at approximately 1900 hours, [redacted] went to Burger King to get some food. When [redacted] got to the drive-through, a deputy, later identified as Nathan Bakker, was parked in his patrol vehicle near the entrance to the drive-through. [redacted] rolled down his front passenger window to inquire with Bakker if it was ok for [redacted] to be at the Burger King or if there was police activity. Bakker waved his hand forward in a motion that [redacted] understood to be Bakker waving him past him. Bakker did not have any lights or sirens activated at that time.

[redacted] continued into the drive-through and ordered food. There were no other vehicles inside the drive-through at that time. [redacted] continued to the drive-through window to pick up his food. Less than five minutes after [redacted] ordered his food, a white sedan, which [redacted] did not know the make or model of, drove up behind [redacted] The white sedan was parked so close to [redacted], that [redacted] believed the white sedan may have hit [redacted] vehicle. [redacted] later checked and determined the white sedan did not hit his vehicle. The only portion of the white sedan [redacted] could see was the windshield portion. [redacted] was unable to see inside the white sedan and did not see who drove the vehicle.

[redacted] saw Bakker pull into the drive-through in the wrong direction blocking the exit of the drive-through. Bakker's patrol vehicle's emergency lights were activated. [redacted] described the emergency lights as "red and blue." [redacted] knew Bakker's patrol vehicle was a law enforcement vehicle because of the red and blue lights and Bakker got out of the vehicle wearing clothing which clearly identified him as a law enforcement officer.

Bakker approached [redacted] car and was approximately one and a half car lengths or less away from [redacted] driver's side front window was rolled down and he heard Bakker give commands to "slow down," "stop," and "put your hands up." [redacted] did not see anything in Bakker's hands.

[redacted] saw a Black male adult, approximately mid 30's, average build, unknown height, later identified as Joe Alverson, get out of the driver's door of the white sedan.

[redacted] described the tarp object as bulky with lumps in it, and approximately three feet long, one and a half feet wide, and six to eight inches thick. [redacted] speculated as soon as Alverson saw Bakker's patrol vehicle he ran to the blue tarp on the passenger side of the white sedan. Less than 30 seconds after Bakker arrived on scene, Alverson ran from the passenger side of the white sedan to the north of the Burger King, out of [redacted] view. WITNESS INTERVIEW: SERGEANT KEVIN MCCURDY

On Tuesday, September 13, 2022, at approximately 0144 hours, Detective Bryan Sprague and I Interviewed San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department (SBCSD) Sergeant Kevin Mccurdy in the Detective Office at the Morongo Basin Sheriff's Station at 6527 White Feather Road, Joshua Tree. I recorded the interview with my department-issued digital audio recorder. The recording was later submitted as evidence. The following is a summary of my recorded interview with Mccurdy.

Before the interview, I advised Mccurdy we were conducting a criminal investigation and it would be submitted to the District Attorney's Office. I told Mccurdy he did not have to speak to me, and no discipline could come to him for not talking to me. Mccurdy told me he understood and agreed to talk to me voluntarily.

On Monday, September 12, 2022, Mccurdy was assigned as the Watch Commander for the Morongo Basin Station from 0630 to 1830 hours. At approximately 1820 hours, Sergeant Josh Guerry arrived at the Morongo Basin Station. Mccurdy briefed Guerry on the dayshift events while inside the Watch Commander's Office. At approximately 1845 hours, Mccurdy heard Deputy Nathan Bakker broadcast a traffic stop over the radio. Immediately following the broadcast of the traffic stop, Bakker broadcasted over the radio stating he was in a foot pursuit. Guerry and Mccurdy believed they heard "shots fired" broadcasted over the radio, but they were not sure. According to Mccurdy, the Watch Commander's Office has poor radio reception. Mccurdy broadcasted over the radio and asked Bakker if shots were fired or not. Bakker responded over the radio and said there were two shots fired. Guerry was not dressed in uniform at that time, so Mccurdy responded to the scene and Guerry went to put on his uniform.

Approximately one minute after Bakker broadcasted "shots fired," Deputy Aimee Coakley broadcasted she was on scene. Bakker broadcasted over the radio a request for medical aid to respond for the suspect, a Black male adult later identified as Joe Alverson. Mccurdy called Morongo Station Captain Robert Warrick and notified him of the lethal force encounter (LFE). Mccurdy broadcasted over the radio for deputies to block the roadway at the scene. An unknown deputy canceled the request for medical aid while Mccurdy was still en route.

It took Mccurdy approximately 12 to 13 minutes to arrive on scene. When Mccurdy arrived on scene, he saw two patrol vehicles blocking eastbound traffic and a patrol vehicle blocking westbound traffic. Mccurdy parked his patrol vehicle and realized the scene appeared to be contained within the [redacted] and Burger King shopping center. There were several deputies at the scene. Deputies taped off the scene with crime scene tape and looked for any injured civilians. Deputy Alvaro Zavala secured the scene with crime scene tape. Deputy Nicholas

Kridner checked with [redacted] to confirm no one was injured since the [redacted] was down range from where the shots were fired.

Mccurdy pulled Bakker away from where the other deputies were and obtained a public safety statement. Bakker told Mccurdy he conducted a traffic stop and shot from the small patio section of the Burger King. Bakker motioned, indicating he fired from the patio toward the southeast. Bakker told Mccurdy he fired two rounds. Mccurdy saw a black AR-15-style rifle on the ground in the area where Bakker said he fired. The rifle's safety was turned to the fire position. Mccurdy saw two fired cartridge casings (FCC) on the ground. The FCCs were consistent with pistol FCCs.

Mccudy saw Alverson's white vehicle parked in the drive through of the Burger King. Bakker's patrol vehicle was parked in a parking stall east of Burger King. Mccurdy heard an unknown deputy say Bakker's patrol vehicle was moved from where it was during the LFE. Mccurdy did not know why the deputy moved Bakker's patrol vehicle.

Mccurdy continued to work with the deputies to determine where the scene was located and determined the roadway was not involved. Mccurdy had the deputies who blocked the roadway narrow the crime scene to the area of the [redacted] shopping center. Mccurdy requested Twentynine Palms City Roads respond to assist with the scene containment.

Guerry arrived and informed Mccurdy he had notified Morongo Station Lieutenant Brandon Wiebeld and Civil Liabilities. Mccurdy contacted Sergeant Michael Warrick and notified him of the LFE. Mccurdy notified Sheriff's Employee's Benefits Association (SEBA) and the peer support team.

A short time later, Deputy Alexander Stumbo arrived on scene. Mccurdy knew Stumbo and Bakker were both former [redacted] so Mccurdy had Stumbo drive Bakker back to the Morongo Sheriff's Station for processing.

Mccurdy had no additional information, and I concluded the interview.

The gunshots were in rapid succession. Once [redacted] heard the first gunshot, she looked out the windows on the northeast corner of the building and saw a flash. [redacted] believed the flash was the second gunshot exiting a gun's barrel.

[redacted] saw a deputy, later identified as Deputy Nathan Bakker, point his firearm southeast and yelling. [redacted] knew Bakker was a deputy because he wore a uniform with a badge. [redacted] did not hear what Bakker yelled because the Burger King doors were closed. [redacted] finished taking the [redacted] female's order.

Approximately 10 seconds after the gunshots, [redacted] walked to the east side of the Burger King and looked out the window. [redacted] saw Bakker pointing a pistol at a subject, later identified as Joe Alverson, prone on the ground. Moreno described Alverson as a heavyset Hispanic or Black male adult with tattoos on his arms. Alverson wore Nike shoes, long socks, shorts, and a dark-colored shirt.

Bakker held the pistol with two hands and held Alverson at gunpoint until a second deputy arrived. Alverson lay prone with his hands above his head. [redacted] saw a rifle on the ground between the Bakker and Alverson. Additionally, [redacted] saw a bank card and jacket laying on the ground.

[redacted] worked at the [redacted], located at [redacted] Twentynine Palms. The [redacted] shared the same parking lot as the Burger King. At approximately 1804 hours [redacted] took his lunch break and went to eat lunch in his vehicle with his driver's side window rolled down. [redacted] vehicle was parked in the southeast parking lot of the Burger King, 80 feet from the Burger King.

At approximately 1845 hours [redacted] sat in his vehicle looking at his cellular telephone when he heard yelling come from the west side of the Burger King. [redacted] could not distinguish what was being said but believed he heard "hey" or "stop". [redacted] looked back toward the Burger King and did not see anything. [redacted] turned back around and through his rear-view mirror saw a Black male adult, later identified by investigators as Joe Alverson, running around the northeast corner of the Burger King.

[redacted] turned and looked back toward the Burger King and saw a deputy, later identified by investigators as Nathan Bakker, running after Alverson. [redacted] turned and faced forward to get his cellular telephone to record the incident when he heard two "pop" sounds. [redacted] knew the "pop" sounds were gunshots. [redacted] was in shock and did not move or look back toward the Burger King. [redacted] could not tell if Alverson was holding anything in his hands when he turned south around the northeast corner of the Burger King. Alverson appeared to be trying to run into the Burger King.

Approximately 10 seconds after hearing the two gunshots [redacted] looked back toward the Burger King and started recording with his cellular telephone. [redacted] remained in his vehicle and recorded with his cellular telephone by placing it out of the driver's side window. [redacted] observed Alverson laying on the ground on the outside patio area of the Burger King. Alverson laid on his stomach with his arms extended to his sides.

Alverson's head was pointed in a south direction and Bakker stood approximately three feet north of Alverson's feet. Bakker pointed his firearm at Alverson and gave him commands. [redacted] did not remember the exact commands Bakker gave Alverson but believed it was "don't move". Bakker used one of his feet to move something further away from Alverson. [redacted] could not tell what it was because the curb and railing blocked his view.

DOMON: 9-6?

BAKKER: Yes, sir.

DOMON: Did you have a rider or a partner that day?

BAKKER: No.

DOMON: So, on that day, can you kind of describe your uniform that you were wearing? Kind of start from your head and then work your way all the way down.

BAKKER: Yes. So, on my head was… Specifically uniform, like related just to uniform or just what I was wearing in general?

DOMON: Just in general and then uniform, also.

BAKKER: Okay, so on my head, I was wearing black sunglasses, had my earpiece on my shoulders. I mean, I was wearing my class A uniform, so I had two sheriff patches on both shoulders. I had a badge, a deputy sheriff badge. So, it would be a brown shirt and then, I wore green pants with my duty belt and I was wearing black boots.

DOMON: You said you had a deputy sheriff badge?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Where was that affixed to?

DOMON: And then, you said you were wearing a duty belt?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: What was on that duty belt?

BAKKER: All of my department issued gear. So, starting, I had a like, a keyholder and then, I have pepper spray. Going counterclockwise, I had my keyholder, pepper spray, my duty gun, handcuffs, my radio, taser and then, my magazine pouches with my belt recorder, fixed to the front of my magazine pouches.

DOMON: Was your belt recorder activated?

BAKKER: Yes.

DOMON: Was it activated before or following the incident?

BAKKER: Before.

DOMON: Before? Does your unit have a camera?

BAKKER: No.

DOMON: Do you wear a body-worn camera?

DOMON: Did you take any photographs during the incident or after?

BAKKER: I did not, no.

DOMON: Alright. How much sleep did you get in the last 24 hours prior to the incident?

BAKKER: 6-7 hours.

DOMON: 6-7? What about the 48 hours prior?

BAKKER: Like, total?

DOMON: Yeah, total.

BAKKER: 12-14 hours total.

DOMON: 12-14? So, about six to seven each night?

BAKKER: Yes, sir.

DOMON: Alright. During the time of the incident, were you under a doctor's care or taking prescribed medications that affected your ability to perform at the time of the shooting?

BAKKER: No.

DOMON: What weapon did you use?

BAKKER: Glock 17.

DOMON: And what caliber is that?

BAKKER: 9mm.

DOMON: How do you typically load it?

BAKKER: Generally, it's loaded, but in order to load it like, let's say I load it with a cleared weapon. I would insert the magazine, which has rounds inside the magazine. I would rack the slide to the rear in order to chamber a round and then, I check to see if there's a round in the chamber.

DOMON: Okay and to clarify a little bit, how do you typically load like, how many rounds do you put --

BAKKER: Glock 17 carries 17 rounds and with one in the chamber, I would be able to carry 18 rounds --

DOMON: 18 rounds?

BAKKER: -- with the firearm.

DOMON: And is that how you had it loaded --

BAKKER: Yes, sir.

DOMON: -- the day of the incident? Alright. Is that how you remember loading your magazines before the shooting?

BAKKER: Yes.

DOMON: Do you remember the last time you loaded your magazines?

BAKKER: I mean, I checked to ensure that I have rounds in my magazine and my chamber is loaded every day before I start work.

DOMON: Okay. Did you chamber a round before the LFE occurred?

BAKKER: One was already chambered.

DOMON: One was in the chamber already?

BAKKER: Yes, sir.

DOMON: And we'll go more into this further on into the interview, but how many shots do you remember firing?

BAKKER: Two.

DOMON: Were you injured at all?

BAKKER; No.

DOMON: Have you ever been in an LFE before?

BAKKER: No.

DOMON: Okay. So, at this time, I'm just going to kind of open up the floor to you. If you can just kind of give us an open narrative of how the incident occurred.

BAKKER: Okay. So, just some context before I actually get into the actual event. A couple of months prior to September 12th, 2022, while on field training, we conducted a… We responded to a call for service in a mobile home park just northwest of the incident location, where a black male adult, later identified as Joe Alverson, had brandished a firearm. And I don't recall if he shot in the air or not. However, we ended up identifying the suspect as Joe Alverson and he was described leaving the location in a white Toyota Camry. At that point, Deputy Laura Gonzalez, who was case agent at the time, did a Ramey warrant for his arrest, and I knew him to be, I knew him to have a felony warrant.

Approximately two days prior to September 12, myself and Deputy Aimee Coakley responded to a call for service in the same mobile home park, [redacted] which I knew to be where Joe Alverson lived. That was the same trailer that we responded to for the first call for service. When, so we responded to a domestic disturbance at the same trailer and witnesses stated that they observed a white Toyota Camry leaving the scene before deputies arrived. So, at that time, it was in my head that Joe Alverson and that vehicle or potentially Joe Alverson and the white Toyota Camry was in the vicinity of the area.

On September 12th, 2022, at approximately 1845 hours or correction, 1840 hours, I was conducting an area check for a separate case, just west of [redacted] and [redacted] I would, I approached the intersection at the dirt road and [redacted] and I was attempting to turn west. While waiting for traffic to clear, I observed a white Toyota Camry traveling eastbound on [redacted]

[redacted] I was able to glance at the plate and see, what I recalled, was a plate that resembled the plate that Joe Alverson had left the scene in. I don't know the exact plate number, but I do know that the beginning number was [redacted] and I believe it was [redacted]" I know there was the [redacted] and I know there was a [redacted] in there.

So, I quickly glanced at the plate and then, I was able to glance into the passenger side window, where I observed what appeared to be a black male adult, similar to the description of Joe Alverson, driving by. I turned eastbound from the intersection that I was at and attempted or began following the vehicle. As we were stopped at [redacted] and [redacted] because of a red light, I was able to run the plate. The plate came back to a female. I don't recall the full name, but I remember at the time, I was, I thought that because of the prior encounter with him in the vehicle, it was in my head that the vehicle should have came up as a Department of Justice stop, which just means a lot of the times like, the car is stolen or it's of interest, it's involved in an investigation to where we can stop the vehicle. That didn't show up. So, I immediately called my partner, Deputy Coakley, who was my beat partner that day, to confirm the plate.

As we proceeded, the light turned green. We proceeded to travel eastbound past [redacted] and the vehicle turned right into a [redacted] parking lot, which, and there was a [redacted] parking lot and then there was a Burger King on the inner, near the intersection. The vehicle immediately turned into the drive thru and I stopped just outside the drive thru and continued to talk to Coakley to confirm the plate. Coakley got back to me or she responded and said that that is definitely the plate and at that point, I asked for her to come assist me because I was going to try to conduct a traffic stop on the vehicle to identify the driver. Coakley said that she was on the way and I then proceeded to call another partner who was working that day. He wasn't in the beat, but he was nearby. Nicholas Kridner, Deputy Nicholas Kridner and he had just gotten off the phone with, he briefly put me on hold and once he got off, once he took me off hold, he told me to follow the vehicle until we had additional deputies to assist me.

At this point, I moved my patrol vehicle from just outside of the drive thru area and I drove it to the southeast corner of the Burger King, where I parked and waited for the vehicle to leave. At this point, the, I observed the Toyota Camry exit the drive thru area and then turn onto a, essentially an exit back onto [redacted] So, I continued to follow the vehicle onto [redacted] and Deputy Kridner had told me wait for them to get there, but don't allow him to go to the trailer park, which was just northwest of the incident location. At this point, he pulls up to the intersection of [redacted] and [redacted] where there was a red light and he didn't stop at the red light before he turned back eastbound on [redacted]

So, at that point, I had told Kridner that I have probable cause to initiate a traffic stop and I would wait for them to get there. When the Camry turned back eastbound onto [redacted], I observed the occupant began holding, what I saw was a cup from the Burger King outside of the window and at that point, I knew that he knew I was following him. I was going to continue to follow him. However, he immediately turned back into the first, he turned back right where he turned the first time to go back into the parking lot. Just the way he was acting and his behavior, I decided to initiate the traffic stop before my partners got there because based on like, prior experiences when people start kind of going around, being quick about driving around… I've been in previous "failure-to-yields car pursuits."

So, I initiated the traffic stop. I went on the radio and said that I was, I gave them my location. However, I was unable to clearly read the plate and he, I activated my overhead lights and sirens before he turned into the parking lot. He turned into the parking lot and then proceeded to drive back into the drive thru with my overhead lights and sirens still on. He went back into the drive thru and I chose not to drive my vehicle into the drive thru with him for an officer safety standpoint, because he was leading me into a canalized position to where I couldn't get out if something happened. So, I stayed outside of the drive thru entrance as he continued to pull forward, where he continued to show me his drink that he had shown me before. I then turned my patrol vehicle back to the southeast corner of the business and then cut off the drive thru exit with my patrol vehicle so he could not leave.

During this time, there was another vehicle that was parked in front of him at the drive thru window and he stopped before them. Based on my positioning with my patrol vehicle, I couldn't see him, but I could see the right side of his car. As I waited for my partners to show up, I observed what appeared to be a backpack be thrown out the passenger side of the window. However, I could still not see the subject. Based on prior experience and just kind of what was going on, I thought that either the subject was attempting to discard of evidence and it just, it seemed that he was pressing an issue that I would have to act in that immediate time because of what he was doing.

At that point, I exit my patrol vehicle and walked in line with the two vehicles in the drive thru. I began, when I could see the subject, I saw a black male adult who I knew to be Joe Alverson, based just on the pictures that we had seen before, how we identified him, I knew that it was him. I began walking up towards the vehicle and he was outside of his vehicle. He walked over to the bag that he had thrown out and walked back over to the car. At this point, I'm walking up and told, gave him verbal commands for him to show me his hands because he was being very… There were multiple points and times where I couldn't see his hands and that's an officer safety concern. He walked back over to the driver's side of his vehicle where he began just fidgeting inside of the car with the backpack where I could not clearly see his hands. I continued to give him verbal commands to show me his hands. After approximately three commands, just due to his behavior and me not being able to see his hands and his prior, you know, prior law enforcement encounters with him and him being involved with a weapon, I withdrew my weapon and pointed it to the ground as a safety precaution because I knew he had dealt with weapons in the past and I could still not see his hands.

As I went around the first vehicle parked near the drive thru window, he took out what appeared to be a blue jacket with both of his hands, which I thought was strange. It appeared that he was attempting to conceal something in there. However, I could not see it at the time and he shuffled between the front and the rear of the vehicle. And at this point, he began to run around the northwest corner of the business. I initiated a foot pursuit on the radio, giving a direction of where I was going and I began to pursue Alverson around the Burger King. At this point, there's kind of, it's probably a 15-20 ft wall and then, there's another corner to, around the right, which I knew was the entrance.

I was running after him. I had visual of him and then he ran around that right corner, which I knew was the entrance to the business. And as I cleared that northeast corner of the Burger King, I saw a jacket fly up in the air and I saw Alverson begin turning his body. During that time, I observed, that split second, I knew it was an assault rifle, just, it was a very clear view and what I saw at that time was him beginning to rise it up. At which that point, he raised a weapon up to me. I felt that my life was in danger and because of the dense population in the parking lot behind him and inside of the Burger King, I suspected to be inside the Burger King because it's 6:45 p.m. It's busy. And him raising the rifle up to me, I felt that my life was in danger. I oriented my firearm to him. I could not get a clear sight picture just because of how fast it happened. I oriented it to center mass and I fired two shots.

When I fired the two shots, the weapon immediately went into the air and I observed Alverson fall onto the ground. I didn't feel any more need to… I felt that the threat had been eliminated. So, I stopped firing and Alverson was laying facedown with his hands at his side right at the entrance. I broadcasted on the radio that shots were fired and I begin giving verbal instructions for Alverson to place his hands out like a "T" to his side because I didn't know what was inside of his waistband. Alverson complied and I waited for my backup, who approximately like, 30 seconds later, they showed up, but I waited for them to show up before we actually went and handcuffed him.

Once he was handcuffed, we rolled him to his side to check to see if there were any gunshot wounds to his abdomen. After checking his chest and his groin and his legs, we determined that he was not struck by the gunfire and we escorted him to my patrol or correction, to my partner, Deputy Coakley's patrol vehicle. I searched him out one more time to ensure that he didn't have any weapons on his waistband and then, I placed him in the vehicle with no further incident.

DOMON: Okay. So, we're just going to take it back from the beginning and then, we'll just kind of break it down into little pieces. And then, we'll go from there, okay? So, you said you conducted a prior investigation a couple of months before this incident occurred?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Do you remember vaguely when that was? Either month?

BAKKER: I would say mid-July of 2022.

DOMON: Mid-July?

BAKKER: I cannot give you an exact date.

DOMON: Okay and what was your role in that investigation?

BAKKER: I had a very minimal role. I didn't actually have any direct involvement where I had to write any supplemental reports or anything. My partner, Deputy Gonzalez was my beat partner and then, my field training officer was Deputy Alexander Stumbo. And we just kind of assisted in, we froze the scene because we, Deputy Gonzalez wrote a search warrant for the residence to see if we could recover the firearm. In which we did not recover a firearm, but we recovered ammunition in Alverson's bedroom. I did not play a huge role, but I was just aware of what was going on and kind of what was happening. The vehicle that was driven, the description of the person. I assisted Stumbo with a photographic lineup with the victim later that night, where we confirmed that it was Joe Alverson.

DOMON: And who, if you recall, who was the victim of that 245?

BAKKER: I don't recall.

DOMON: You don't recall?

BAKKER: I can't recall.

DOMON: Okay. So, during your involvement in that, you did see, you helped conduct a photographic lineup. So, you know who Joe Alverson was?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay and then, you'd mentioned his car that he was driving. That was part of the investigation, also?

BAKKER: Correct. Yes, we were able to… Initially, it came out that we just had a vehicle description and then after reviewing some footage, I don't remember if it was… I'm sorry. One of the [redacted] witnesses gave us a plate of the vehicle. So, we were able to run the plate and get the VIN number to include with the investigation.

DOMON: And what were the circumstances of that 245?

BAKKER: Briefly, I don't remember exact details, but essentially it was… Excuse me, essentially it was, I don't remember if it came out as a "man with a gun," but brief details about it was a Black male adult pointed a pistol at a Hispanic male adult. I don't recall if they said that he discharged the firearm or not, but it essentially was… We pulled a report for "assault with a deadly weapon being with a firearm."

DOMON: Okay. So, there was a firearm used --

BAKKER: There was a firearm involved.

DOMON: -- in the commission of that crime?

BAKKER: Yes, sir.

DOMON: Okay and then, you had said your partner, Deputy Gonzalez, she authored a Ramey warrant --

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: -- for Mr. Alverson?

BAKKER: Yes.

DOMON: Okay and you were mentioning a trailer park. Do you recall the address of that trailer park by any chance?

BAKKER: I don't recall the exact address.

DOMON: Okay.

BAKKER: It's just directly what, it's on the north side of [redacted] directly northwest of.

DOMON: Okay. Northwest of the Burger King incident location?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay and the [redacted], is that also called something else?

BAKKER: [redacted]

DOMON: Okay. So [redacted] is [redacted] Same thing?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Got it and to your knowledge, that trailer park, that's where Mr. Alverson resided at?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay. Alright and then fast forward a couple of months, you said two days prior to the LFE incident, there was another domestic, some kind of domestic issue with Mr. Alverson.

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Can you kind of go over the details a little bit on that?

BAKKER: Yeah. So, a couple of days prior, we responded to what the reporting party said was a "domestic battery." Alverson had a relationship with a Hispanic female adult who lived in [redacted]. I don't recall her name, but essentially, they just said like, pushing, screaming and they called it into us. So, we responded to the location. When we got there, we contacted the victim, the Hispanic female adult, who was uncooperative with our investigation. However, like I said, based on previous encounters at the location, I knew it was Joe Alverson, who was there because they also provided the vehicle description.

At one point, I went up to the victim and asked where Alverson was because I had still been looking for him. I was trying to help my partner with her case, but I'd asked her where he was and she had actually told me that he packed all of this stuff and he was going back down to Moreno Valley and not coming back. But other than that, she was uncooperative. So, I didn't know how much to believe her or not, but she did give me consent to search the house for him. I went back to his bedroom, which was empty. I checked the space, the hidden space, it was like, an airway vent on the floor, where we had found the ammunition on our, on Deputy Gonzalez's case and there was nothing in there. So, I left, we left the location not knowing if he was going to be back or not.

DOMON: And was there any kind of report taken for that incident?

BAKKER: I believe Deputy Coakley took a report for PC 243(E)(1).

DOMON: So, a domestic battery case?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay and Deputy Coakley. Do you know Deputy Coakley's first name by any chance?

BAKKER: Aimee.

DOMON: Aimee Coakley?

BAKKER: Yes, sir.

DOMON: Okay. You said that was two days prior to September 12th, correct?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: So, on September 12th, you were in the area of, you said [redacted] and [redacted]

BAKKER: I was just west of, yes.

DOMON: Just west of? And you were conducting an area check for, reference another case you were working?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Where abouts were you on [redacted] I know you said west of. Was there a street name you were on?

BAKKER: I can pull up a street. I just can't recall it.

DOMON: That's fine. You were just, it was on the street west of?

BAKKER: It was a [redacted]

DOMON: Okay. So, and then you said you approach[redacted] You're waiting for traffic to, so you can actually drive on [redacted]

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: And that's when you see a white Toyota Camry?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay and then, you also said you saw someone through the passenger window?

BAKKER: It was very brief, but it appeared to… He was sitting very, very low in the seat and I could see it was like a, it was a black male and he had like, a slick, at that time what I saw, it seemed very slick. So, I didn't know if it was like, a rag that he had over his head or if the person was bald, but it didn't, it appeared to be a black male --

DOMON: Okay.

BAKKER: -- inside of the vehicle. I could not clearly identify to see if it was Alverson or not.

DOMON: Alright, but based on your previous knowledge of the vehicle description and everything like that --

BAKKER: A little bit more suspicion to pursue the vehicle.

DOMON: A little more suspicion? Okay. So, at that point, you turn out behind the vehicle. That's when you start following it?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay and then, you did a records check and ran the license plate?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: You said it came back to a female and you weren't sure who it was.

BAKKER: Yes.

DOMON: Okay. You said, you had mentioned something about a DOJ stop or a Department of Justice stop. What was that reference?

BAKKER: That was referenced to the previous, I believed that there was going to be a DOJ, Department of Justice stop, based on his Ramey warrant. Given that he fled the location from the previous "assault with a deadly weapon" case with Deputy Gonzalez's case, I thought the Ramey warrant would also include the DOJ stop for the vehicle, as well. So, when it didn't show up, I kind of was like, I don't know if this is actually the… Initially, I didn't know, I thought I might have the wrong vehicle, but while I was on the phone with Deputy Coakley, she verified that that was indeed the plate. And I believe that that plate came back registered to either the Hispanic female who lived at that trailer park that I was talking about, or if it was another Hispanic female that lived in [redacted] I don't recall specifically, but he had a relationship with two females.

DOMON: Okay. So, and this phone call with Deputy Coakley. That's while you're following --

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: -- the Toyota, right? The Camry? Okay and at this point, is he already pulled into the [redacted] parking lot or heading towards the Burger King?

BAKKER: Yes. So, he had pulled in and I was on the phone with her, saying that I think that I have him. I'm going to confirm, I told her that I was going to confirm the plate. So, when we pulled into the drive thru, he pulled into the drive thru and he stopped because there was other traffic there. I was able to be at the entrance, but not yet inside of the drive thru to look at the plate. It was very obvious that I was following this vehicle.

DOMON: Following? Okay. So, and then at that point, you confirm it with your partner, and then you wait for him to exit the drive thru.

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: You don't want to get stuck in there?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay. So then, you pull, you said you pulled up to like, the north, the southeast corner of the Burger King?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay. You're just waiting for him to pull out?

BAKKER: So, I was parallel from the… It's hard for audio, but the wall, on the southeast corner of the Burger King, there's a long wall, which is what I'm assuming the kitchen area on the inside of the building. I was able to park parallel facing south to where anyone leaving the exit, unless they looked back as they were leaving, would be able to see. I concealed myself essentially from the exit. So, I could see vehicles leave, but they could not see me there unless they looked over in this direction as they were leaving.

DOMON: Got it and how long do you think you were waiting there until Mr. Alverson pulled out?

BAKKER: At this point, this is around near where I activated my audio recording and this was while I was on the phone with Deputy Kridner. I would say approximately one or two minutes.

DOMON: One or two minutes?

BAKKER: About.

DOMON: Okay. So, then Mr. Alverson pulls out and then, he makes, he heads south and then west towards [redacted]?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay and then at that point, is that when you start following him?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Trying to catch up to him? And then, he makes a northbound turn onto [redacted]

BAKKER: Yes. He turns right out of the parking lot to where he was driving northbound on [redacted].

DOMON: Okay and that's where you said he failed to yield at that stoplight?

BAKKER: Yes. Yeah, there was, there's lights at the intersection and the light was, I recall that, I know the light was red at that moment. And he pulled up on, in the right lane with his blinker on and didn't make a full stop at the intersection and kind of just rolled it --

DOMON: Okay.

BAKKER: -- back eastbound on [redacted]

DOMON: Okay. So, it was a controlled intersection, but he had a red light and he failed to yield at that. And that was your, some of your probable cause to pull him over?

BAKKER: Correct. Initiate the stop.

DOMON: And at what point, because you said he, something about a cup coming out the window.

BAKKER: Right.

DOMON: When, at what point was that?

BAKKER: As we were, as we went northbound on [redacted] I believe he raised the cup out the window, like to verify… I don't know if he was trying to show me that he actually bought something from the Burger King. I didn't really ask about it, but it was obvious that he was attempting to show me something because I was behind him. So, he knew that I was following him.

DOMON: Okay. So, then he runs that red light, continues east on [redacted] and then pulls back into the same driveway he did prior to?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay and how far back are you from him at this point? How far away are you?

BAKKER: I would say approximately three car lengths.

DOMON: About three car lengths? And how was he driving?

BAKKER: He was driving, I mean, normal.

DOMON: Normal?

BAKKER: He did a right turn signal to go back in there. There was nothing that was very, he wasn't going left to right or like, being really weird about his driving, but I could tell that he was trying to… I felt that he was attempting to get away from me. Not, he didn't drive fast away from me. He wasn't making any evasive maneuvers or anything like that, but just under normal circumstances, a… Someone wouldn't follow someone like that. So, I think he was just trying to like, turn streets so I would continue to go straight or continue to go elsewhere because it was a very awkward situation I was on.

DOMON: So, based on your previous experiences with, you said you've been in vehicle pursuits and stuff like that.

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Is that like, a common behavior for people to, you know, either to counter on you or anything like that? Trying to evade?

BAKKER: Yes. If they know that we're following, they will try to, based on previous encounters, they will attempt to make turns to get out of eyesight of the officer or to get away from them.

DOMON: Okay and is that what you believe may have been happening --

BAKKER: Yes.

DOMON: -- right now? Okay and now, I know you mentioned it. At what point did you activate your overhead emergency lights?

BAKKER: I was eastbound on [redacted]. As soon as he began pulling back into the Burger King drive thru, I believe I was on the phone. I said, "I'm going to pull traffic," to Kridner. I said, "I'm going to pull the traffic. He's going back in." So, just, he may have been turning right into the parking lot when I flipped on my lights. I don't recall exactly, but I know that I was eastbound on [redacted] when I initially activated them.

DOMON: Okay and was that your overhead lights? Was there any sirens with it or just overhead lights?

BAKKER: There was no sirens. Just my overhead lights.

DOMON: Just overhead lights? Okay. So, you activate those and at that point, Mr. Alverson continues towards the Burger King drive thru?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay and then, you follow him. You don't actually follow him in. You stopped short of it.

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: And that's when you go back around. Do you go, you drive around the Burger King…

BAKKER: Yeah. So, I initially kind of like, stopped and I was trying to figure out what I was going to do. If I was going to approach him on, at the entrance or if I was going to follow him or if I should just go around. So, I kind of like, shuffled around a little bit in the parking lot and then, I decide to cut him off at the exit.

DOMON: At the exit of the drive thru?

BAKKER: Correct. Is where I finally parked my patrol vehicle.

DOMON: And then, so you're parked there and, but you can't see him when you're parked there?

BAKKER: Correct. So, yeah. So, based on my, the angle that I was at, there was a wall that was cutting off part of his vehicle and then I had, there was another vehicle in front of him, which obscured vision, but I could not see the driver's side of his vehicle. I could see the passenger, part of the passenger side enough to where when he threw, what would appeared to be the backpack. I could see part of his vehicle.

DOMON: Part of it? Okay. Do you recall what the vehicle in front of him was? Like, make, model, color, anything like that?

BAKKER: It was a four-door sedan. I don't know the make, the model. I know it was driven by an older White male adult. It was a nicer vehicle.

DOMON: So, you could see the [inaudible] and then, is, right when you pull into the exit of the drive thru, is that when you see him throw something out of the car?

BAKKER: Yes.

DOMON: Okay and you described it as a backpack?

BAKKER: I saw it as a backpack, yes.

DOMON: Okay and it is, at that point, you exit your vehicle so you can actually see what's going on?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay. Up to this point, do you have anything [inaudible]?

DEL RIO: Yes. Were there any like, special characteristics on the vehicle, on the white Camry? Like, any stickers? Were there like, tinted windows?

BAKKER: There were, all the windows were tinted. The front one, I don't recall if the front ones were a lighter tint or not, but I was able to see into the front ones better than the back ones. I know the initial special characteristic that was initially given on our previous encounter was that the whole front grille was white, as well. But after me looking for the vehicle enough and flipping on previous, on other Camrys that I had saw in the area, I kind of determined that was normal for all of them. So, there was nothing really like, distinct about the vehicle. It looked very similar to a lot of the other ones that I'd flipped on in the past or attempted to identify in the past.

DEL RIO: Were you able to see if the windows, any of the windows were rolled down?

BAKKER: When I initially saw him?

DEL RIO: Yes.

BAKKER: None of them were rolled down. The only time that the windows were rolled down was the driver side, but I didn't have a very… And the only reason why I know that the driver's side window was down was because he was holding up the cup. I was never actually able to look into an open driver's side window.

DEL RIO: Okay, but you were able to determine that there was a Black male inside of the vehicle?

BAKKER: Correct.

DEL RIO: Okay. Were you able to see if there were any other occupants inside the vehicle?

BAKKER: I did not see any other occupants.

DEL RIO: So, what was your intended goal?

BAKKER: My intended goal was to initiate a traffic stop and arrest if I identified the occupant as Joe Alverson. To arrest him for his felony warrant.

DEL RIO: So, when you activate your lights and he proceeds into the drive thru, what's going through your mind at that point?

BAKKER: I found it strange that he went through the drive thru a second time, again. I know I initially kind of just told myself like, "Don't go. Don't follow him into the drive thru." Just based on officer safety stuff that I've learned and prior to this, I was in the military. So, it's like, canalizing positions. Like, something that you can't get out of and it's very enclosed. It puts you at it, it puts me at a disadvantage. So, I made it a very big point not to force myself into that situation.

DEL RIO: Okay. At that point, did you think about maybe waiting for backup until your backup arrived before you proceeded to the exit of the drive thru?

BAKKER: When he, the second time that he pulled in there? Yes, I was trying to do that. When I cut off the exit, I was just hoping to hold the traffic until… Because no one could get out. So, I was hoping to hold the traffic long enough to have my, I didn't know how far… All of my partners were back at the station because it was the end of the day. It was 6:45 p.m. So, everyone is on a Friday, so everyone's trying to get in. I know it was approximately three or four minutes after I'd gotten off the phone with Coakley and depending on how fast you drive from the station, it takes… If you're driving the speed limit, it takes approximately 10-12 minutes to get to [redacted]

However, given the situation and what I told her, I felt that she would be there sooner than that, but I didn't know how soon. So,

I was hoping I could hold traffic in there long enough for a partner to show up, but once I observed the things being thrown out of the vehicle, for preservation of evidence and just officer safety, protection of myself or others, I decided to initiate the stop by myself.

DEL RIO: And you mentioned that he threw, what you said was a backpack out the window. Can you describe how big the backpack was? What color it was.

BAKKER: I don't know an exact color for the backpack. I know it was dark. I believe it was darker in color. I couldn't give you a brand name or anything like that, but it just seemed like, a normal… What are they called? JanSports. That I mean, just a small bag. It was nothing extremely large. It wasn't like, a little purse. It was just an average…

DEL RIO: Like a typical, your high school student backpack would carry?

BAKKER: Right.

DEL RIO: Okay. You mentioned that you knew that he knew that you were pretty much following him and that's when you said that he, I guess placed a cup out of the window and showed it to you.

BAKKER: Right. I think he was trying to show me like, "I went through the drive thru and look what I bought." Like, why are you… I don't know. It was pretty evident that he was trying to make it known that he went through the Burger King and bought something, but I don't know exactly why his reasonings for holding it out was besides showing me.

DEL RIO: At what point did you positively identify that that was the person from the previous investigation?

BAKKER: When I got out of my patrol vehicle and I started approaching his vehicle, I saw him. It was the Black male adult I confirmed as Joe Alverson and he was wearing a black durag like, elastic durag. But based on what I saw in front of me and his description on his JIMSNet photographs and driver's license photographs, I confirmed that it was him.

DEL RIO: Okay.

DOMON: And you confirmed that after, you say as you got your car and you approached him, right?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: How far away were you when you actually first made contact with Mr. Alverson?

BAKKER: "Contact" as in giving verbal commands?

DOMON: Verbal commands, yeah.

BAKKER: Approximately 20 ft.

DOMON: About 20 ft? Okay and what verbal commands did you give Mr. Alverson?

BAKKER: "Stop and show me your hands."

DOMON: Anything else?

BAKKER: No. Just primarily "Show me your hands."

DOMON: "Show me your hands"? Okay and where was Mr. Alverson at that point?

BAKKER: He was on the driver's side of his vehicle, in between the wall of the business and his vehicle.

DOMON: His vehicle? Like, by the driver's side door or the passenger, the rear passenger?

BAKKER: The driver's side door.

DOMON: Driver's side door? And was that door open?

BAKKER: I believe so. I don't remember if the door was open or if he was reaching through the open window that he had opened before, but I saw him inside. He was outside of the vehicle with his hands inside of the vehicle, messing with that bag, which caused concern for me because I still could not see both of his hands clearly.

DOMON: Right. At what point did he retrieve the bag that he threw out of the car? When did that happen?

BAKKER: As, so when I… I was sitting in my patrol vehicle as I saw it get thrown out and when I decided to open the door and walk out, shut my door and start going over there, he had already gone over to retrieve the bag and come back. So, he was walking back to the car with the bag.

DOMON: Okay and he, then he stood by the driver's side door through the window, at that point?

BAKKER: Through the window or through the door. I don't recall it which.

DOMON: Okay and as he was at the door, you were giving him commands. You said he was, that's when he was looking through the bag through the window?

BAKKER: Right.

DOMON: Okay. What did you think was, what did you think he was doing at that point?

BAKKER: I had a couple of things going through my head, just on previous encounters, you know. Without seeing his hands, he could have, I believe that he could either be retrieving a firearm, he could be discarding narcotics… Him not showing me his hands when I was telling him to do so caused me to be very just, uncomfortable. I wasn't entirely sure, but a firearm was kind of towards the top of my, you know, what I was thinking --

DOMON: Right.

BAKKER: Based on his history.

DOMON: Okay and how did Mr. Alverson respond to your verbal commands?

BAKKER: I recall him at one point saying, "I didn't do anything."

DOMON: "I didn't do anything"?

BAKKER: But other than that, he just was quiet, still going back and forth retrieving, just shuffling in the bag. At one point he says, "I didn't do anything."

DOMON: Okay. At any point while you were giving these verbal commands, did it appear he was going to comply with your orders?

BAKKER: No.

DOMON: No? So, you're giving him commands. How long have you giving him verbal commands?

BAKKER: I gave him approximately four or five commands to show me his hands and that probably lasted 10 seconds.

DOMON: About 10 seconds?

BAKKER: 10-20 seconds.

DOMON: And then, what happened after that?

BAKKER: He pulled the jacket with, what appeared to be a blue jacket, with two of his hands and he kind of shuffled between going forward towards me and backwards towards the rear of the business. And he did that for a split second or two and then, it was clear that he began running.

DOMON: And where did he remove that blue jacket from?

BAKKER: That front seat near the backpack. I don't know if he retrieved it from the backpack or it was in the vehicle.

DOMON: Okay.

BAKKER: But it appeared that he was concealing something with it.

DOMON: What did you think he was concealing?

BAKKER: At that time, I wasn't entirely sure, but he had two hands, which meant that it was a larger object.

DOMON: Right.

BAKKER: And just based on the fact that it was concealed and he wasn't listening to my commands, I just, I felt that it may be a firearm.

DOMON: A firearm? So, he grabs that out of the front passenger compartment somewhere. You're not sure if it's from the backpack or if it was on the seat. He comes out with it and then, you said he kind of does a little shuffle step or step forward and step back and ultimately…

BAKKER: Ran back.

DOMON: Ran back. And where were you at this point when you were --

BAKKER: I was… If the front, if the vehicle facing forward is 12 o'clock, I was to the front right of the vehicle, right, front right-hand corner of the vehicle, approximately 10 ft back.

DOMON: Okay, about 10 ft back from his vehicle?

BAKKER: Right, so I was at --

DOMON: Like, a southwestern --

BAKKER: Like the 2 o'clock position of the vehicle when it's facing forward, approximately 10-15 ft.

DOMON: Okay.

BAKKER: I'd taken like, a wider stance because of one I could use the vehicle as cover because the vehicle was between him and I. And I didn't want to be, I didn't want to go in between the vehicle that was already parked at the window and his vehicle.

DOMON: Right.

BAKKER: So, I stayed, I made a conscious decision to go wide on the car.

DOMON: Okay. So, you were probably like, a southwestern direction and about 10-12 ft back --

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: -- from his car? Okay. Was his car running at all?

BAKKER: I don't recall.

DOMON: Okay and then, so he's inbetween and then, he starts running. He runs north…

BAKKER: He runs north and then, immediately east.

DOMON: Immediately east? And that's when you start your foot pursuit with him?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Okay and what's he doing with the jacket at this point? Is he…

BAKKER: What I recall at that time was just he was running with it. There was nothing that I saw at that time that was… I didn't see the, what was later identified as the firearm or see him doing anything strange besides carrying the jacket with two hands. And then, as we went around that other corner on the northeast corner, is when I saw the jacket kind of just in the air. I remember consciously kind of briefly looking at the jacket and then, reorienting back to him and that's when I saw him rotating in a clockwise position. And I saw at that time, him raising.

DOMON: During, when the foot, your foot pursuit with him initially started, were you still giving him commands at that point?

BAKKER: I don't believe so.

DOMON: Okay. Was he saying anything?

BAKKER: No.

DOMON: Nothing? Okay. So, he runs. He's still carrying the blue jacket with him. He breaks that northeast corner of the Burger King and goes around the corner.

BAKKER: Mm-hmm. [affirmation]

DOMON: And you had said earlier, you had known the entrance to that Burger King to be on that side?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Is that just from prior, previous --

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: -- whatever contact there or whatever.

BAKKER: Yes, sir.

DOMON: Okay. How far back are you from him at this point when you're, when he's breaking that corner?

BAKKER: 10 ft.

DOMON: About 10 ft?

BAKKER: Approximately 10 ft.

DOMON: Okay. So, then you approach that corner. You see a blue, the blue jacket's flying in the air somewhere. So, let's kind of go over, kind of describe his movement at that point. So, you see a blue jacket and then, at what point do you realize he's holding a rifle?

BAKKER: As he's mid like, orientated, like, as he's orienting towards me, I can clearly see the rifle. Like, I identified it immediately as an AR platform rifle.

DOMON: Okay.

BAKKER: And at that point, I recall being on the radio and I was still actually initiating my foot pursuit. I had given them, "Foot pursuit. We're going to be going eastbound on [redacted]." And I recall like, as he's orienting towards me, I thought I still had my finger pressed down on the button. I broke my sentence and said,

"Gun." I screamed, "Gun!" I didn't say it for the radio. I don't know who I said it for, but I recall screaming, "Gun!"

DOMON: "Gun"?

BAKKER: And that's when I oriented my firearm towards him.

DOMON: Okay and so, you said and you kind of described he was rotating. He's rotating towards you.

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: So, how much of him can you see when he's rotating towards you?

BAKKER: I saw like, the broad side of his body. So, if I'm facing, if my body is square with him, I saw like, the side of him with the rifle out. Like, it was clear that… It was away from his body at this point and it was pointed in an outward direction.

DOMON: Okay and can you kind of describe how he's holding it?

BAKKER: He had it with two hands. One hand on the forward part of the, what would be the handguard of the rifle. And the back one, the, his back hand was back towards where the pistol grip of it was. What I recall at that moment, was that it was on the grip and he had it in a… He was capable of shooting the rifle with how he was holding it. He wasn't like, holding it out or he… I saw him being capable of shooting the rifle with how he was holding it.

DOMON: Okay. So, the shooting platform he was in, he was able, you believed he was able to fire that weapon?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: Do you remember, I know you said hand position, one was front, one was on the pistol grip. Do you remember which hand was which?

BAKKER: I believe his left hand was on the handguard towards the front and his right hand was on the pistol grip.

DOMON: Okay. So, he's and he's rotating it towards you. Where's the firearm pointing at this point? His firearm.

BAKKER: I believed at me.

DOMON: Pointed at you?

BAKKER: Right. It was very quick.

DOMON: Okay.

BAKKER: But just based on the momentum of where it was going like, he was moving to fix the, to where I was on the other side of the barrel.

DOMON: Right and as you're, you have your firearm out at this point?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: So, let's kind of go over that. So, are you, when you shoot, are you, what's your platform? Your shooting platform, at that point, when you do fire your weapon.

BAKKER: I was kind of in like, I didn't shoot while I was running, but I recall it quickly, just… It wasn't an ideal platform where both left and right foot were securely planted. I raised my firearm, but I planted my feet as well as I could to actually set up my firearm. I know it was kind of out, it was higher at this point and then, I just recall going around that corner, screaming, "Gun!" because I had my lapel microphone or my push-to-talk button in my right hand. And then, as we went around the corner, I screamed, "Gun!" and I believe I put both hands on the firearm and just oriented and tried to plant my feet as well as I could to take well-aimed shots.

DOMON: Okay and you were kind of demonstrating. Were you, you had both hands on your firearm when you fired?

BAKKER: I believe at the time, yes.

DOMON: Okay. Was there anything like, visual obstructions like, obstructing your view between you and him at that point?

BAKKER: No.

DOMON: No? Okay. How far away do you think you were from him, at that point when you broke that corner?

BAKKER: Approximately 10-12 ft.

DOMON: 10-12 ft? And I know you kind of went over it. What was your point of aim, at that point when you fired?

BAKKER: I oriented my firearm at him to where it was pointed at him. I attempted to shoot at his center mass. Yeah, my point of aim was just, my firearm, it was such a close distance that I oriented my firearm at him and attempted to place two shots at his center mass.

DOMON: Were you able to obtain any kind of sight picture?

BAKKER: No.

DOMON: No?

BAKKER: Not consciously.

DOMON: But his center mass, his chest area was where you were pointing your firearm?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: And then, you fired two shots. Were they in like, rapid succession like, real quick or were they, any delays between?

BAKKER: There, it was very quick.

DOMON: Very quick?

BAKKER: Very quick in between the two.

DOMON: What was your backdrop behind him?

BAKKER: Like, what I consciously, physically saw as the backdrop or what it actually was?

DOMON: What you perceived as the backdrop.

[redacted] Perception would be fine.

BAKKER: My perception at the time, the Burger King sits kind of at a higher elevation than… And it's not even that much, but it sits at a higher elevation than the [redacted] parking lot that's to the southeast of the incident location. I know I wasn't shooting into the [redacted] building. However, there was a parking lot behind Alverson to the southeast that I knew that I would be shooting down into either concrete on the ground or into vehicles. I did not see any civilians behind my backdrop. After… Yeah, at the time --

DOMON: Okay.

BAKKER: That's what that was. I can talk about after the fact, what I figured out it was, but I'm not sure if…

DOMON: No, just whatever you perceived during it. That's fine. What was your best estimate of time from your first round to your second round? If you had to estimate.

BAKKER: A 10th of a second.

DOMON: So, very quickly?

BAKKER: It was very quickly.

DOMON: Okay and then, after you shot your second shot, what happened after that?

BAKKER: I observed Alverson falling backwards onto the ground. He had let go of the firearm and he was falling towards the ground. He fell kind of, so he went from falling backwards to where his back would hit the ground and he kind of twisted his body. I don't recall if it was… I'd say in a, I don't recall if it was a counterclockwise or clockwise position, but he rotated his body to where his stomach landed on the ground. So, he was faced down. At that time, I thought that I had eliminated the threat and I stopped firing. When he fell and he was on his stomach, I… The weapon was in between him and I. So, it was at his feet. I was still standing. It was at his feet and it was between him and I. I continued to orient my firearm towards him, in case he did anything else and then, I recall looking at the firearm, which had a loaded Magpul PMAG magazine with a window in it. I'm sorry.

So, it was a Magpul magazine, PMAG, which is just a polymer magazine, which had a, for lack of better terms, a "round count indicator window" to where you could see rounds inside of the magazine if they're loaded. Just based on previous experience, like, I'm familiar with the magazines. I know that there is a red, orange spring load indicator. I looked at, I saw the orange indicator and saw that there was approximately 15 rounds inside the magazine and I saw that the safety selector switch was placed on fire. As I continued to kind of hold on him and wait for backup, I consciously stepped on the firearm and brought it back towards me and then, I backed up and created more distance between Alverson and I.

DOMON: And how far back did you move his firearm?

BAKKER: Maybe two feet.

DOMON: Maybe two feet? Okay. So, what do you think would have happened if you didn't fire your weapon?

BAKKER: I believe Alverson would have shot me.

DOMON: Would have shot you? And what was your intent when you fired your weapon?

BAKKER: To eliminate the immediate threat that I had in front of me. To stop him from either shooting myself or shooting people in the area. I believe at that moment, at that immediate moment, he was attempting to shoot me, but if I wouldn't have either caught him in that location, he was running to a densely populated area being the parking lot or in the entrance of the restaurant location. I felt that at that moment, I protected myself and then, prevented him from either barricading into the Burger King or running into a more densely populated area.

DOMON: Alright. Up to that point, do you have any questions?

DEL RIO: Yeah. Do you remember seeing anyone else aside from Alverson, of course, in the area at the time of the shooting?

BAKKER: Not prior to, but I remember immediately after the shooting happened, I looked to my right and saw that there were people at the window. I do recall specifically a Black male adult standing at the window with his cell phone out. He had long dreads on. He had long dreads and he kind of just, I recall him saying that I had just shot him, but no one was outside. There's, so it was kind of, it's near that entrance on that concrete pad where the shooting happened. There's a seating area where there's like, benches. It's like an outdoor eating area. There was no one out there.

DEL RIO: Do you remember what the lighting conditions were during the time of the shooting?

BAKKER: It was still daytime.

DEL RIO: Like, the sun was up? It was…

BAKKER: It wasn't like it, at that time, the sun is kind of setting, but the lighting, there was no… The brightness was still the same as how it was the entire day.

DEL RIO: And just, I just have a question. Prior to the shooting, can you describe in more detail, tell me why you placed your vehicle at the exit of the drive thru?

BAKKER: To --

DEL RIO: Why not just allow him to leave and then, you try to initiate your traffic stop?

BAKKER: I believed as traffic would have continued to, if I would have stayed at the entrance of the drive thru, as traffic would continue to leave the drive thru, he would be able to exit. And I would still have to either continue pursuing him and putting myself in that canalized position or he would be out of sight of my patrol vehicle to where I could not see him. So, I made a conscious decision to quickly lose visual of him and drive around to the other side to prevent him from leaving.

DEL RIO: Okay. Do you believe that you placed yourself in a dangerous situation by parking your vehicle at the exit of the drive thru?

BAKKER: I believe putting myself at the exit was safer than driving through the drive thru.

DEL RIO: Okay. At any point during that time, did you think about maybe letting him drive away?

BAKKER: I wanted to avoid a pursuit, which is another reason why I put myself on the exit.

DEL RIO: Okay. Knowing that Alverson threw a backpack out, you don't know what it is. You know he has a history of weapons. Then, you drive around to the exit, park your vehicle. You see that's, is that when you noticed that there was another civilian vehicle parked in front?

BAKKER: Yes. Immediately driving at the exit, yes.

DEL RIO: What was going through your mind at that point when you saw that vehicle?

BAKKER: Initially, I thought it's blocking my view of Alverson. And then, when I saw the backpack get thrown out and I started, I got out of my patrol vehicle, I initially made a direct approach and between the civilian vehicle and Alverson's vehicle, I stopped for a second and I recall seeing the White male adult sitting in there and me, consciously thinking like, this is essentially a crossfire situation. So, at that point, as I started approaching the vehicle, I made a conscious decision to start moving wide to avoid my crossfire with the civilian or crossfire with Alverson. I tried to keep the civilian out of a crossfire situation by moving on the outside of the vehicle.

DEL RIO: Okay.

DOMON: That's all you got? Okay and then, while, after your shots are fired, you're waiting for your partner before you approach Alverson. Is he saying anything?

BAKKER: As I'm giving my commands, I said, I told him to put his, "Show me your hands and don't move." He said, I remember him saying, "I'm not doing nothing. I'm not moving. I'm not…" He was very compliant with my commands and he was talking to me. So yeah, essentially just confirming what I'm saying, "Don't move." "I'm not moving." So…

DOMON: Okay and then, you said approximately like, 30 seconds later is when your partner shows up?

BAKKER: Correct.

DOMON: And that's when you go and you search him, make sure he's not injured or anything like that.

BAKKER: Initially, as he was, had his arms out to his side, my partner showed up and we kind of figured, we were figuring out what we were going to do. She, Coakley advised me to maintain lethal coverage while she put him in handcuffs. I remember Coakley went over his body, kind of crouched down and grabbed his left hand first, with his right hand still out because I still didn't know what was on his person. I placed my foot over his hands. I didn't stomp, I didn't twist, I just placed my foot over his hand so he couldn't move it while my partner put his left hand in handcuffs. And then, when that hand was in handcuffs and behind his back, I released the pressure from his hand to where she could grab the other and place the other in cuffs.

DOMON: And then, you guys performed a search of his person to see if he had anything else?

BAKKER: Correct. We moved him from the incident location to her vehicle, which was on the north side of the parking lot. She was on the south side of [redacted] Once he got over to the vehicle, we asked him if he had anything else, anything else illegal on him. Any guns, knives, anything like that and then, I conducted a weapon search of his person.

DOMON: Was there anything else on him?

BAKKER: No.

DOMON: No? Do you remember what he was wearing?

BAKKER: I believe he was wearing all black. I can't say with certainty what he was wearing. I remember specifically his bandana, but which was black, but I didn't… I believe he was wearing a black shirt with, I know he was wearing sport shorts, elastic sport shorts --

DOMON: Okay.

BAKKER: But I don't recall the color.

DOMON: Okay. Do you got anything else?

DEL RIO: Was anyone injured during the incident?

BAKKER: No.

DEL RIO: Describe how you felt before, during and after the shooting.

BAKKER: Before… How long before?

DEL RIO: As you exit your vehicle.

BAKKER: I mean, there was some heightened senses, for lack of better terms. Like, I was, this person was trying to get away from me or and he was being very suspicious. So obviously, I was a little bit more kind of preparing myself for something to happen during the shooting. I mean, I felt that it was more of a reaction. It was an immediate reaction, just based on training with what I saw and how he was presenting. Like, I just kind of, it was an automatic movement. And then after, immediately after the shooting, the way he fell, I thought that I had struck him with the gunfire and I remember kind of just thinking like, "Did I just shoot this guy?" And then…

But I mean, once we were detaining him and put him in the back of the vehicle, I was actually confident like, I felt that everything that had happened was done correctly. I felt that I took… With the like, the two shots that I took, I felt was appropriate for his reaction and then, me stopping and then, just how we handled things. We didn't do anything emotionally. We did everything, I felt very professionally. And then after the fact, obviously I'm still kind of hyped up with adrenaline, but you know, I gradually started to, you know, relax and kind of that adrenaline dump where, you know, I started feeling fatigue and it was just like… But throughout the whole thing, I was very confident that everything that I did was appropriate.

DOMON: Just one last question. Was medical aid ever called during this incident?

BAKKER: Yes.

DOMON: When was that?

BAKKER: So, medical aid, I believe was called by Deputy Coakley immediately after the shooting. They had asked them to stage and then when Coakley arrived on scene and we put him in cuffs, we confirmed that he was not shot. And then, I recall Coakley saying, "Just in case, don't cancel meds. Continue to roll meds." And I recall them pulling up in the middle of [redacted] eastbound. And then after that, I walked back to, I don't remember where I walked, but medical was on scene.

DOMON: Okay. Did he, do you know if they treated or evaluated Alverson at all?

BAKKER: I don't recall details. I know, I recall them seeing him and then, I don't remember if he refused treatment or if he said he was okay and they cleared or, but I… Yeah.

DOMON: Okay.

DEL RIO: I have one more question.

DOMON: Yeah.

DEL RIO: After the shooting occurred, what happened to your vehicle?

BAKKER: So, within, for like the first 10 minutes, my vehicle was still pulled in the same position when I cut off the exit. After a bit of time, I said that I was going to move it to the middle, I asked if I could move it to the middle of the parking lot to allow the civilian who was still in the drive thru to leave. I walked over to him. I said like, "Are you okay? Did you see anything," and he's like, "All I saw was him running." And I said, "Okay. I'm going to need you to pull over. I just want you to stay in the area to give a statement to deputies when they get to you." And then, I went to my patrol vehicle and parked it on the east side of the incident location.

DOMON: Alright. At this time, we're going to take a quick break. The time is 1502 hours. Alright. This is Detective Owenn Domon. We are back on tape. The time is 1511 hours. Alright. So, we just had one follow-up question. When you saw the backpack being thrown from Alverson's vehicle, did it make any noise when it landed? Did it look like something was in it?

BAKKER: No. I didn't hear any noise just because of where I was. 1) The unit that I was driving is a louder unit anyways and then, I don't recall if my windows were rolled up or down, but it, I did not recall hearing a noise come from the backpack when it was thrown from the window. I do recall, however, when it was thrown out, it did not appear to be empty. It didn't, you know, it appeared to hit the ground quickly. It just, it didn't seem like, an empty backpack. It didn't kind of flow in the air or anything like that. It, when it was thrown from the vehicle, it went directly to the ground and that was it. I didn't hear anything.

DOMON: Okay. So, based on the way it kind of came out the window, it appeared something was in, something heavier was in it that made it fall faster.

BAKKER: Correct. There were contents in the backpack.

DOMON: Okay. Alright. Do you have any questions?

DEL RIO: No.

DOMON: Sir, do you have any questions?

[redacted] I do not, thank you.

DOMON: Alright. That's going to conclude the interview. The time is 1512 hours.

[redacted] drove past Burger King, located at 71707 Twentynine Palms Highway, when the incident occurred.

On Wednesday, June 14, 2023, I reviewed the cellular telephone video provided from [redacted] The cellular telephone video was titled [redacted] Video". The video was 15 seconds long. I viewed the video file utilizing Windows Media Player. The video and audio resolution was clear. The video did not have any time or date stamps. The times listed in this report was the time related to the length of the video file and was approximate. The following is a summary of the video file.

The video began with a view from inside the front passenger compartment of a vehicle at the traffic light of Encelia Drive and Highway 62. The view of the video captured the west side of the Burger King drive-thru. At the drive-thru window was a black vehicle. Behind the black vehicle was a white Toyota Camry. Parked south of the Burger King, in the drive-thru exit, was a marked patrol vehicle with its overhead lights activated. A Black male, later identified by investigators as Joe Alverson, was north of the white Toyota Camry holding a jacket. South of Alverson was Deputy Nathan Bakker.
